

U. S. BEGINS TRIAL OF NAZI SPIES

More Demands By Hitler Loom

Dies Outlines 6-Point Plan To Battle "Isms" 18 NAMED AS OPERATIVES

BRITISH SEE NEW THREAT

LONDON, Oct. 17.—(UP)—Reports multiply today that Hitler would make far reaching proposals soon to the British government. Coincidentally there was a mounting tide of feeling against further concessions to dictators which threatened the government not only at home but in parts of the British Empire.

Urges Resistance
A speech broadcast to the United States last night by Winston Churchill—and strangely not broadcast in Great Britain over the government-controlled radio system—sounded a clear call for a strong stand against the totalitarian nations, for intensified rearmament and for world cooperation among democracies, and particularly between Great Britain and the United States.

The importance of the present reports was that they concerned concessions which would be asked of Great Britain. It was no longer a question of "concessions" to Benito Mussolini at Ethiopia's expense or to Adolf Hitler at Czechoslovakia's expense.

Will Ask Concessions
Germany intends soon to propose Anglo-German discussion on arms limitation generally, on an air pact, on colonies and possibly on revision of the Anglo-German naval treaty. In each case there would be involved definite and costly concessions by Great Britain to Germany.

It was reported that Hitler would ask Britain to accept inferiority to Germany as regards airplanes, that he would ask for British Empire colonies or mandated territory, that he might seek a more nearly equal proportion of warships with Britain.

Roar of Protest
No one doubted that there would be a tremendous roar of protest in Great Britain if there was any suggestion that this country accept inferiority to Germany in the air. Acceptance of equality at sea was unthinkable.

As regards colonies even if the rank and file of the conservative party agreed to sacrifice African territory—and there was no reason at all to believe that it would—it was increasingly certain that there would be firm and perhaps dangerous opposition in Africa.

Advertising In U. S. Shows Gain

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(UP)—Media records today that newspaper advertising linage had risen last month to within 11 per cent of the heavy volume recorded for September, 1937.

An analysis of advertising in 52 cities indicated, the report said, that the upturn would continue through the remainder of 1938.

Total advertising in September rose from 33 per cent of the comparable 1937 figure in August to 38.6 per cent, the report showed. Retail advertising increased from 36.8 per cent to 42.2, national linage from 37.6 to 40.1, and automotive from 48.6 to 58.4.

Total display advertising was up from 31.6 to 38.2, and classified from 37.8 to 40.1. All classes gained except financial which while even with August was about 1 per cent off in trend. Total advertising for the balance of the year was expected to be 33 per cent of the 1937 figure for the same period.

Plan Rites For Noted Cartoonist

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Oct. 17.—(UP)—Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. today for E. C. Segar, creator of the cartoon "Thimble Theater" and its famous cast, headed by "Popeye the Sailor," who died Thursday night after a long illness. Interment will be at Woodlawn cemetery, Santa Monica.

The artist is survived by his widow, Mrs. Myrtle Segar, a son, Thomas Elzie, 11; a daughter, Marie Irma, 16; his mother, Mrs. Irma Segar; a brother, Norman Segar of Van Nuys, Cal., and three sisters.

Ambulance Plane Crashes; 6 Dead

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 17.—(UP)—Rescue workers today removed the bodies of six occupants from the wreckage of an ambulance airplane which crashed on a hillside while taking a patient to Froesen, killing all.

The patient was Madame Anderson. With her was her daughter, her physician and a nurse. A pilot and co-pilot were in charge of the plane.

Costly Vessel

Costliest religious vessel ever used in the United States, the diamond-studded monstrance, above, is one of the spectacles of the Eighth National Eucharistic Congress, to be held Oct. 18 to 20 in New Orleans. Valued at $35,000, the monstrance contains 317 diamonds, is 42 inches high, weighs 24 pounds.

HUNGARIANS FIRE ON CZECH PATROL

PRAGUE, Oct. 17.—(UP)—The army received advice today from Kralup Chlumec that Hungarian soldiers had opened fire on a patrol of Czechoslovak soldiers at the village of Biel, Slovakia, and had thrown hand grenades at them.

After withdrawing, the Hungarians returned and attacked the patrol a second time. The Czechoslovaks did not return the fire.

The Slovak government decided to decree martial law in 17 districts close to the Hungarian frontier.

Fear Invasion
The area extends from Bratislava to Kosice, comprising 15 districts on the Hungarian frontier and two others close to it. Bratislava, Kosice and Komarom are among the cities affected.

It was announced the step was taken because the Slovak government feared invasion by Magyar terrorists, although there was no fear of invasion by the regular Hungarian army.

Czechoslovakia and Hungarian delegations will resume negotiations this week and the Czechs will make essentially the same offer that the Hungarians rejected angrily at the Komarom conference last week.

Based on 1930 Maps
The offer of cession will be based on a 1930 ethnographical map, instead of a 1910 map the Hungarians had insisted on using, and Czechoslovakia will retain the cities of Bratislava, Nitra, Kosice and Uzhhorod, which have Hungarian minorities and which Hungary had demanded.

The Czechs believed that in the light of week-end developments, the Hungarians would either accept or seriously consider the offer, which they denounced at Komarom as ridiculous.

Negative Victory
Frantisek Chvalkovsky, Czechoslovak foreign minister, returned

Urge Council To Oust Holmes

A recommendation of the Santa Ana civil service board that H. E. Holmes, Santa Ana police officer now under suspension, be ousted from the civil service list and the police department will be considered by city council tonight.

Holmes had a hearing recently before the civil service board on the charge he neglected his duty and brought discredit to the police department in failing to stop a street-to-street fight on the street between his wife and Mrs. Gladys Durham several weeks ago.

The hearing followed recommendation by Police Chief Floyd Howard that Holmes be ousted. Mrs. Holmes, separated from Holmes, was injured in the scuffle with Mrs. Durham on Birch near Fourth street.

"We recommend that the chief be upheld and find H. E. Holmes guilty . . . of neglecting to perform his duty and find he has brought discredit upon the police department of Santa Ana," the board held. "The said conduct also constitutes misconduct and inefficiency and is conduct detrimental to the police department."

Debate R. R. Wage Plans

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(UP)—Attorneys for railway management and labor today debated possible effects on the national economy of the carriers' proposed 15 per cent wage cut in final arguments before President Roosevelt's emergency fact finding board, which seeks to avert a nationwide strike over the pay dispute.

J. Carter Fort and Sidney S. Alderman, attorneys for the carriers joint conference committee, asserted that the rail industry was facing collapse because of inadequate revenues and excessive operating expenses. They declared that the wage reduction for more than 900,000 men was essential.

Cut "Unjust"
Charley M. Hay, attorney for railway labor asserted that cut would be "grossly unjust to workers" and predicted that it would be followed by pay slashes in other industries, thus retarding general recovery.

MISSION SWALLOWS TO LEAVE SUNDAY

With the famous swallows of Mission San Juan Capistrano scheduled to leave for the south next Sunday, preparations have been completed to broadcast two programs in observance of the event, it was learned today from the Rev. Father Arthur Hutchinson.

As in previous years the National Broadcasting company will present programs, with the first slated for 9:45 a. m. Saturday and the second at 10 a. m. Sunday. Clinton "Buddy" Twist, who has charge of previous swallow broadcasts, will be at the microphone.

Tradition
For as long as anyone can remember the swallows have left on October 23 and returned on March 19, St. Joseph's day. After the swallows depart the sparrows always move in and when the swallows return in March, they quickly rout the intruders.

Children of the mission school, Ramon Yorba and Mrs. Reyes Yorba, both old-time residents of the district, and the Rev. Father Hutchinson will take part in the broadcasts.

Chest Campaign Nears Goal

Less than $3000 more is needed to put the Santa Ana Community Chest over its goal. "Santa Ana raised its full goal last year and it will do it again this year," enthusiastic supporters declared today.

"Campaign leaders and workers determined to succeed. These men and women, more than 400 of them, are serving their community entirely without pay. They are sacrificing time and effort and they deserve the cooperation of those who are asked only to give."

"If you have been missed in the solicitation or if you have already subscribed and can give a little more to help put Santa Ana over the top take your gift to Campaign Headquarters, 215 East Fourth street; or telephone 2052 and a Chest worker will call for it."

Seek To Settle Labor Row

WESTWOOD, Calif., Oct. 17.—(UP)—Another attempt to reach an out of court settlement was scheduled to be made here today when a National Labor Relations board hearing into charges of asserted unfair labor practices against the Red River Lumber company reconvenes after a week-end recess.

Board officials announced that as soon as the hearing is reconvened a four-hour recess will be called to allow discussion of a compromise action on CIO charges, filed after a "purge" of CIO unionists last July.

Man Surprised; Has Broken Back

STREETSVILLE, Ont., Oct. 17.—(UP)—H. T. Shaw, 81-year-old farmer, was in a hospital today in a heavy cast, a thoroughly surprised man.

Shaw walked into Dr. G. A. Montemurro's office Saturday and complained of a sore back. "Good heavens, man," Dr. Montemurro gasped after examining Shaw, "your back is broken."

Shaw said his back had been "a bit bothersome" since a fall from an apple tree two weeks ago.

Jailed After Shooting

Martin Snyder, pictured above as he appeared this morning in Hollywood police station, faces charges of kidnapping and attempted murder following the shooting Saturday night of Myrl Alderman, husband of Ruth Etting. The shooting affray occurred in the Hollywood Hills home of the singer who was a witness to the affair. Alderman and the noted singer have been married just two months. Snyder is Miss Etting's former husband.

LEAD FLIES, GUNS SMOKE IN REAL "HOLLYWOOD THRILLER"

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 17.—(UP)—With husband number two creased by a bullet fired by number one, Ruth Etting emerged unscathed today from a welter of leaden slugs, heroine of the first real life drama of smoking guns and raging passions of Hollywood's 1938-39 season.

La Etting, who became a radio star and movie star because she could sing like a baritone, wept in soprano as she recounted the events leading up to the shooting of her husband, Myrl Alderman, by her ex-husband, Martin Snyder.

"It was a case of insane jealousy," she cried. "Martin threatened to kill me when I divorced him last November. When Myrl and I were married two months ago, we kept it secret—but Martin found out, anyhow."

The 30-year-old Alderman, who functioned as Ruth's accompanist, was at St. Vincent's hospital, where physicians said he would recover from a bullet through his abdomen. The 42-year-old Snyder was in jail, where police said he was booked on suspicion of kidnapping and attempted murder. The booking may be changed, if the officers can untangle the assorted stories told by the principals.

Kidnaped Spouse
Miss Etting, who entered the fray herself with an undersized revolver, charged Snyder with kidnapping her present husband from in front of the National Broadcasting studios. She said Snyder stuck a gun in Alderman's ribs, forced him to drive to her palatial home near Hollywood Lake, and threatened to kill everybody in the house.

Occupants consisted of Alderman, Miss Etting, and Snyder's daughter. Snyder ran out the back door, knocking over a garbage can as he went and for reasons unknown to Miss Etting, rang the door bell of her neighbor, Wayne Morris, to say she'd just taken a shot at him. Then Snyder clasped his hands behind his back and started pacing the sidewalk in front of the Etting home. He still was walking back and forth when police arrived. They confiscated his gun, from which they said the serial numbers had been filed, and took him to jail.

There he contradicted the story of his former wife. He said he drove out with Alderman to her home to discuss selling the house, in which he still had an interest. "And Alderman started shooting at me," he said. "So I shot back."

WALT DISNEY'S FAMED DONALD DUCK TO BE REGISTER FEATURE

Walt Disney shares one thing with Donald Duck, his most hilarious creation, who will make his bow to readers of The Register Wednesday as a daily comic strip.

They both had a modest—exceedingly modest—Hollywood beginning.

Walt arrived in Hollywood with $40 and an idea. Donald Duck got his start as an extra in a Mickey Mouse picture.

And now look at them! Quack Brings Fame

Donald, who has quacked his way into 10,000 theaters to the delight of many millions, is today as famous as Mickey. And Walt Disney, creator of Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, the Silly Symphonies, and Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, today is just about the biggest name in the world of entertainment.

Success, as the saying goes, has not swollen Walt's head. He's still a little puzzled by the rewards—financial and artistic—which have come to him. And he becomes acutely uncomfortable

Following on the heels of charges in Orange county addresses that Communism flourished in California schools, Representative Martin Dies (Democrat) of Texas, chairman of the House un-American activities last night proposed a six-point program to combat alien movements endeavoring to overthrow the government, according to United Press dispatches.

Charges that Communism existed in California schools were hurled by the Rev. Rex A. Mitchell, pastor of the Baptist church of Paso Robles, in Santa Ana and Anaheim churches last week.

Providing for the first time an insight of what his committee may recommend to congress, Dies, in a nation-wide radio broadcast, demanded:

1. Immediate deportation of Communist, Nazi and Fascist aliens who are spreading class, religious and racial hatred.
2. Stoppage of Communist activities on Government projects "which are financed by the hard-earned money of loyal and patriotic Americans."
3. Registration of all "front organizations," showing semi-annual reports of contributions, names of

MARKET SPECIALIST WARNS CITRUS MEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(UP)—F. R. Wilcox, agriculture department marketing specialist, today told 33 representatives of the citrus industry that the government cannot assume the industry's responsibilities of merchandising.

"Government efforts can only supplement the efforts of the industry," he said, "and cannot assume the industry's responsibilities of merchandising."

Expect Frankness
"The government does, however, expect frankness from the industry and a policy of reasonableness."

Wilcox opened a four day conference of representatives of all branches of the citrus industry. The conference planned to meet in executive session later today to discuss the industry's marketing problems.

The representatives, invited by the agriculture department, will present the views of growers, shippers, canners and by-product manufacturers in Florida, Texas, Arizona and California.

Cheaper Methods
Wilcox reminded the conference that it should center its efforts on cheaper methods of distribution, rather than development of a two-price system for selling fruit to low income families.

He said the department had not developed completely any two price program for "citrus or any other agricultural commodity."

The agriculture department has forecast an all time record production of grapefruit and oranges this year. Grape fruit production was estimated at 40,700,000 boxes, compared with 30,875,000 last year. Orange production, excluding California Valencia, was set at 49,900,000 boxes, compared with 45,550,000 last year.

Mercury Falls To 43 In Santa Ana

While parts of Southern California shivered under snow flurries, Santa Anans experienced the coldest weather since last winter early this morning when the temperature dropped to 43 degrees.

Today's sun and the prediction that warmer weather was in store for Southern California took part of the strain from ranchers who scanned with anxious eyes the dropping mercury last night. The snow in the Southland fell in the Sanberg and Ridge Route areas, between Los Angeles and Bakersfield as subnormal temperatures prevailed throughout the lower portion of the state.

High for yesterday stood at 67, 11 degrees colder than New York City and 17 degrees below Chicago. Northwest winds following in the path of the recent showers produced the cold weather. It was reported. The official Weather Bureau forecast for today and tomorrow is fair weather, somewhat warmer, with gentle to moderate southeast to northwest winds.

Fliers Break Endurance Record

RICHMOND, Ind., Oct. 17.—(UP)—Bob McDaniels and Russ Morris, both 24, passed their 114th hour in the air today in an endurance flight in which they hope to stay aloft 139 hours.

They broke the unofficial world record for light planes late yesterday at the 106th hour. The old record was made last summer by two Syracuse, N. Y., fliers.

McDaniels and Russ Morris had failed in three recent attempts at the record. They started their present flight at 7 a. m. Wednesday.

Watson, walked into the emergency hospital and held up one hand. Two fingers were missing. "I amputated them with a hammer and chisel," he explained.

"That was all I had, and I had to do it. I got my hand tangled in a buzz saw. I wanted to know if I did it right."

Surgeons said Watson did an excellent job.

Alien Case To Be Heard

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(UP)—The Supreme Court today granted the federal government's petition for a review of the fifth circuit courts of appeals decision holding that membership in the Communist party is not, in itself, grounds for deporting an alien from the United States.

The circuit court rendered its decision in releasing Joseph George Strecker, Hot Springs, Ark., from threatened deportation, on a writ of habeas corpus. Deportation was ordered for Strecker, born in Austria, on the basis of admitted membership in the Communist party in 1932 and 1933.

Far Reaching
The case is regarded as of particular significance because of its effect on efforts of various organizations to force deportation of Harry Bridges, west coast C.I.O. director, on the grounds that Bridges is a member of the Communist party. Bridges, however, denies membership in the party.

Proceedings were instituted against Bridges last spring but (Continued On Page 4, Column 5)

RESIDENT OF CITY 54 YEARS CALLED

John E. Gowen, of 928 Spurgeon street, a resident of Santa Ana for the past 54 years, died suddenly at his home Saturday.

Born in Cross Rivers, New York, Mr. Gowen was a retired rancher. He was formerly a member of the firm of Gowen and Willard, fruit and walnut shippers. Later he became secretary and manager of the Santa Ana Valley Walnut Growers association, retiring from active business 10 years ago.

Active Mason
He was active in Masonic circles, having been a member of Santa Ana Masonic lodge 241, the Royal Arch lodge 73 and Eastern Star Hermosa lodge 105. He was a charter member of Santa Ana Kiwanis club and a member of the Congregational church.

Funeral services will be held at Winblier memorial chapel at 2 p. m. tomorrow with the Rev. Perry F. Schrock officiating. Burial will be made at Fairhaven cemetery under the auspices of Santa Ana Masonic lodge 241.

Nogales City Clerk Is Slain

NOGALES, Ariz., Oct. 17.—(UP)—County Attorney James V. Robbins today filed murder charges against Frank Corcor, 22-year-old Negro soldier stationed at Fort Huachuca, Ariz., in connection with the death of Tracy Bird, 43. Nogales city clerk.

Robbins said the soldier confessed shooting Bird, whose body was found in the hallway of his apartment house, during an attempted holdup.

Connor told Robbins he came to Nogales from Fort Huachuca to get a "stickup" but that the shooting of the city official was "accidental."

Jail Justice As Knife Victim Dies

MAYER, Ariz., Oct. 17.—(UP)—M. J. Thompson, justice of the peace of this small mining community, was held in jail today pending an inquest into the fatal stabbing last night of Emuel N. Gibson, 60, school custodian.

Coroner Gordon Clark said the knife was believed to be the aftermath of a court case in which Thompson was the judge and Gibson and four others were defendants.

The school employee fell from a chair in a Mayer restaurant with his neck cut. He died a few minutes later.

Witnesses said both men were in the building but that no one saw the actual stabbing.

BREAD LANDS MAN IN JAIL

FRESNO, Cal., Oct. 17.—(UP)—Let there be no mistake about it, when Manuel Martinez, 22, of Fresno wants bread, he wants bread in goodly abundance.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—U. S. Attorney Lamar Hardy outlined in federal court today a fantastic conspiracy by means of which, he said, Nazi Germany hoped to obtain important American military and defense secrets through poorly paid agents of German nationality and extraction.

Details of the plot included use of Adolf Hitler's name on false White House letterheads, Hardy said.

Trio Involved
Hardy, sketching the prosecution's case against three persons accused of espionage, said that government's charges would be elaborated in the testimony of Guenther Gustave Rummich, 37-year-old army deserter who pleaded guilty to the indictment last week.

Rummich's story, Hardy said, would involve Johann Hofmann, former hairdresser on the German Liner Europa who allegedly acted as transcontinental messenger between agents here and in Germany; Otto Hermann Voss, skilled mechanic accused of stealing military plans designed from the Sverksky Aircraft Corporation plant where he was employed, and Erich Glaser, army private at Mitchell field charged with stealing a secret air corps communication code.

18 Named
In all 18 persons were named in the alleged conspiracy, but 14 of them are in Germany, safe from prosecution. Two of the latter—Capt.-Lieut. Erich Pfeiffer, chief of German naval intelligence at Bremen, and Lieut. Commander Ernest Mueller chief of naval intelligence at Hamburg—laid the foundation for the Nazi spy ring in the United States, Hardy said, by seeking out persons of German blood to serve as agents.

Rummich received his first orders from an attaché of the Bremen office named Sanders, Hardy said, after he had offered his services in a letter to the Voelkischer Beobachter, the Nazis party paper through which Chancellor Adolf Hitler's personal opinions are aired.

Wanted Plans
Sanders, according to Hardy, said Germany would pay for information about American mobilization and defense plans, passport blanks through which to send Nazi agents into Russia, data concerning the manufacture of armaments by American firms and for sundry military secrets.

The plot to obtain passport blanks which resulted eventually in Rummich's arrest, involved in its early stage a scheme to reproduce White House stationery in Germany and to forge President Roosevelt's signature, Hardy said.

Another weird scheme called for the abduction of an American coast artillery officer with the aid of poison gas squirted from a trick fountain pen, Hardy said. The plan fell through, however, when correspondence relating to it was seized in Scotland.

Hardy began his statement by saying the defendants on trial conspired to obtain military information and send it to Germany.

Allen Heard By Pamphlet Jurors

The county grand jury today came to a brief pause in its quizzing of witnesses, in connection with the probe of the pamphlet "Fools Rush In." As though possibly studying its next move, the grand jury conferred with Presiding Judge James L. Allen, who called the special investigation and had charge of the grand jury.

The grand jury did not get into session until nearly 11:30 a. m. At that time, Secretary A. R. Benson spoke to witnesses waiting outside of the grand jury room, apparently dismissing them for the moment, as they left the room. Almost immediately, Judge Allen appeared and went into the grand jury room. He was there about 20 minutes, and the grand jury then adjourned the morning session.

Fear Outbreaks In Sonora

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 17.—(UP)—Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho, minister of national defense, toured the state of Sonora today, considering precautionary measures to be taken in case of an outbreak against Gen. Yocupicio, governor of the state.

A manifesto has been issued by labor elements demanding the impeachment of Yocupicio, the legislature and judiciary of the state, charging unconstitutional infringement of the rights of labor.

The governor was being strongly guarded at Navojoa. Dispatches reported an exchange of shots between agrarians and rural guards at Huatabampo on Saturday.

PLANE SERVES ARCTIC PRIEST

VATICAN CITY (UP)—The utility of the plane as an adjunct to mission work in the Far North is illustrated in two radio messages just received by the congregation for the propagation of faith from the "flying priest," Father Paul Schulte.

In his first message Father Schulte described how with a radio engineer and with Captain Cox of Bishop Turqueti's mission ship, the M. F. Therese, he made an aerial inspection of ice conditions in the Frozen Straits district just within the Arctic Circle to determine whether the M. F. Therese might risk its scheduled voyage by that route. Hitherto few ships have passed through the Frozen Straits.

Pass Through Straits

The inspection, according to the message, proved satisfactory to Captain Cox who thereupon decided to begin his voyage at 3 a. m. the following day.

The experiment demonstrated how serviceable the plane may be in assisting the piloting of ships through Arctic ice by means of ice observations from the air.

The M. F. Therese, it is pointed out, is the gift of an anonymous American woman. Built in Holland, it is equipped with a Diesel engine. The 270-ton ship began its mission career in July last year.

On Errand of Mercy

Almost immediately upon returning from this inspection, the flying padre, according to his second message, set out again. This time he went on an errand of mercy with Dr. Thomas Melling of Chesterfield Inlet hospital. According to the message, Okumaalik, second son of the Eskimo King Hydlayayak, had been shot accidentally by one of his five sons, Nypuyark, aged 7.

The plane brought Okumaalik from Igloodik to the hospital at Chesterfield Inlet where he is recovering.

During the latter flight, which covered about 1200 miles, the plane once was driven back because of fog.

BANCROFT WILL SPEAK TONIGHT

Carrying his militant campaign into Orange county, Philip Bancroft, Republican candidate for United States senator, will be the chief speaker at a huge G. O. P. rally at 7:30 p. m. today at the Municipal auditorium at Huntington Beach.

With Frank Latham and A. J. McFadden as escorts, Bancroft appeared in Anaheim and Fullerton this morning and at noon was the speaker at a luncheon at Daniger's cafe. This afternoon he spent in Santa Ana and in visiting the coast cities.

Johnson To Arrive

At the rally tonight Ray Overacker, Huntington Beach city attorney, will be in charge of the meeting and will introduce Mayor C. T. Johnson, of San Bernardino, candidate for Congress on the Republican ticket, and the two Republican candidates for state assembly from Orange county, Adrian Marks and Thomas Kuchel.

Tom Talbert, of Huntington Beach, will introduce Bancroft at tonight's meeting.

Mother of 28 Now 62, Known As Child Bride

DRUMMONDVILLE, Que. (UP)—Mrs. Daniel Lamothe, a "child bride" who has come to be known as Canada's "champion mother," has celebrated her golden wedding anniversary here.

Mrs. Lamothe, who is 62, has borne 28 children and adopted others during the 50 years she has been married. Only five of her own children and seven of the adopted are living.

Mrs. Lamothe was married at the age of 12 to Daniel Lamothe, who was then 19. She became the mother of a baby girl two years later, and during the next quarter-century the other babies arrived at one-year intervals. They included a set of twins.

Mrs. Lamothe said she "loved children," but sometimes had found it difficult to feed and clothe so many. She said she had adopted the eight children because she could not stand seeing them "homeless, helpless and without a mother's care." The last baby she adopted is 5.

"When I was a child," she said, "I was harshly treated after my parents died, and I swore that when I grew up I would do all I could to make life easier for other orphans."

Ruth Etting's Husband Shot

Escaping unhurt in a gun shooting in her home in Hollywood hills, Ruth Etting, stage, screen and radio songstress, witnessed the shooting of her husband, Myrl Alderman, 39-year-old musical arranger, to whom it was revealed that she had been secretly married for two months. Held by Hollywood police on charges of suspicion of kidnapping and attempting murder was Martin Snyder, Miss Etting's former husband. Photo shows singer Ruth Etting at the bedside of her husband, Myrl Alderman, in St. Vincent's hospital.

JAYSEE ADMINISTRATORS END SESSION WITH "NO CHANGES"

No changes were encouraged by administrators of the Southern California Junior College association, in their section meeting of the association in Fullerton Saturday. The association meets twice a year, and arranged for the spring meeting and conference in April, with a theme of "The Junior College and the Community."

One of the 13 section meetings suggested five principles needed to provide an interesting, and modern program; the change of motivation to tie in with life; the adjustment of materials to mental levels of student; a planned pattern learning program; a measuring of results on an immediate program and of a longer view measure, in terms of emotional adjustments and reactions.

Discuss Tuition Here, under the chairmanship of Dean W. T. Boyce of the host school, and after a greeting of Dr. Louis Plummer, superintendent, the administrators agreed that they would not "encourage legislation to make it incumbent upon all junior colleges of the state to charge a tuition fee for non-resident students." Among the arguments advanced to sustain the action were five, brought by Dr. E. Englis, president of the Los Angeles junior college. First, to establish such a precedent is dangerous, and against the principles of public school education; second, the provision would be an effort to have a dollar instead of a boy or girl, and if adopted would be expensive in the long run, for it would provide social, civic and economic problems; third, social conditions have changed, and the population changes; district lines are broken down through modern technical inventions; third, funds from federal aid, in building and in NYA asserts students from all districts, and further precludes there being district lines; and fifth, the state provides $90 per average daily attendance, and thus take the matter still further from the district expenses.

Method at Ventura Concerning the free text book and tuition program, the opinions varied. Representatives from Ventura said that nothing is charged a student there, and he is given a student body ticket with registration. He purchases, only, his annual. He said this has raised the morale of the school, and placed it on a democratic, and real public school basis, and had increased the attendance at athletic events, because the enthusiasm of students has enlarged the enthusiasm of the patrons. The law provides the school district with option on this point, and the administrators took no action.

Judge Provides Final Accident In Native Case

CAPE TOWN—(UP)—A native was in the dock at Port Shepstone, South Africa, charged with stealing a neighbor's goose.

"What have you got to say?" asked the magistrate.

"It was due to three accidents," said the native.

"First of all, there was an accident when the goose entered my kraal. An oxen-yoke fell on it.

"Then I accidentally upset a pot of boiling water over the bird. I knew my neighbor would say I had killed the bird with the boiling water, so I threw it into a bush.

"Then in the night I heard cats fighting for the goose. I didn't like the idea of good meat being wasted on cats, so I got up and cooked and ate it myself."

The magistrate leaned forward: "Here's another accident," he said. "One month in prison."

Survivors are the widow, Mrs. Bees Russell; two sons, Charles and Edward E. Russell, both of Los Angeles; a grandson, Ronald Russell, and one step-son, Reeves Crawford.

Debate R. R. Wage Cut Proposal

Each side was allotted three hours of final argument before the board, headed by Chief Justice Walter P. Stacey of North Carolina, takes the case under advisement. It must submit recommendations to Mr. Roosevelt by Oct. 27, but its report is not binding on either side.

Roy T. Miller, former mayor of Cleveland, argued for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and Tom Davis of Minneapolis, presented the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen's case.

Rap Wheeler
In a 167-page brief, the railroads charged that Wheeler, D. M. C. A., chairman of the Senate rail finance investigating committee with a "last minute effort to smear" the entire industry on the basis of certain isolated charges.

They said that this was "an attempt to deny the carriers in this controversy the fundamental requirements of due process and the fundamental right of fair play."

Wheeler declared that the railroads were wasting more money unnecessarily than would be saved by the proposed 250,000,000 pay cut.

Holman, pastor, First Methodist church.

'Good Samaritan' Loses His Watch

Being a "Good Samaritan" didn't pay dividends to the night engineer at a local business establishment Saturday. The engineer reported a man appeared at the plant, stating he had ridden a freight train to Oceanside from San Diego, intending to get off at Oceanside but failed to do so. He asked the engineer for permission to keep warm in the place during Saturday night, that he would catch another train out in the morning. The engineer missed his watch, a gold knife and chain and Yale key in the morning. The visitor had disappeared. The loot is valued at $25.

Two Admit Guilt In Justice Court

Two men pleaded guilty before Acting Justice Chris P. Pann in Santa Ana justice court today and were ordered to appear later for passing of judgment.

James Ross Bouzier, transferred here from Orange justice court, pleaded guilty on drunk driving charge, was released on $250 bail, ordered to appear Wednesday at 9 a. m. for sentence. Jenovevo Cardona, charged with failing to support his minor children, must appear tomorrow at 9:15 a. m. for sentence. He failed to make $500 bail.

Wide-Eyed Babe Asleep—200 Days

Those large blue eyes that look out at you from the above picture are unseeing. They belong to 3-year-old Mary Ellen Reardon of Chicago, pictured as she passed her 200th day of sleeping sickness or encephalitis. Mary Ellen's pretty face is unchanging, she recognizes no one.

MEDICAL ASSOCIATION FACES QUIZ ON ANTI-TRUST CHARGES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(UP)—The department of justice will ask a special grand jury today to return criminal indictments against the American Medical Association and the District of Columbia Medical Society for alleged "coercive" action against a co-operative health movement. The government charges that the medical societies violated the anti-trust statutes in opposing the group health association, an organization of government employees to furnish themselves and their families medical care.

Far-Reaching Case
The case is an unprecedented application of the anti-trust laws. Officials frankly admit that it is a test case which, if successful, may result in similar action in other cities.

Most of today will be devoted to selection of a jury from a panel of 500 persons. Actual presentation of the government's case probably will begin tomorrow and continue two or three weeks.

Names of the government's witnesses have been guarded closely.

Christian Science

The Leson-Sermon on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, was on the subject "Doctrine of Atonement."

Among the Scriptural citations were these verses from the Acts: "Now Peter and John went up together into the temple at the hour of prayer, being the ninth hour. And a certain man lame from his mother's womb was carried, whom they laid daily at the gate of the temple which is called Beautiful, to ask alms of them that entered into the temple which is called Beautiful, to ask alms of them that entered into the temple."

Peter and John about to go into the temple asked an alms. Then Peter said, "Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk. And he took him by the right hand, and lifted him up; and immediately his feet and ankle bones received strength. And all the people saw him walking and praising God."

A passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, included the statements about Jesus: "First in the list of Christian duties, he taught his followers the healing power of Truth and Love. He attached no importance to dead ceremonies. It is the living Christ, the practical Truth, which makes Jesus the resurrection and the life to all who follow him in deed."

Hungarians Fire On Czech Troops

from Munich and Berlin with the news that negotiations would be resumed, and while the government viewed it as a negative victory over Hungary, it nevertheless represented the first favorable turn for this country since the Sudetenland crisis.

Chvalkovsky was understood to have brought assurances that Germany would aid Czechoslovakia industrially and financially, as well as guarantee fair treatment from Hungary. This was in token of Czechoslovakia's new foreign policy of friendship to the Nazis.

In return for this aid, Germany was said to have asked that Czechoslovakia adopt a "sympathetic understanding of the German political viewpoint" and also see that anti-Nazi organizations were disbanded.

Sheriff's Total For Food Set At $59,521 Since '35

Total receipts collected by Sheriff Logan Jackson for the county for the feeding of prisoners in county jail for the period of August 1, 1935, to August 31, 1938, 37 months, was given as $59,521.69 in a statement today to Orange County officials by San Diego accountants employed by Attorney Edgar Hervey on behalf of the county supervisors, in connection with the fee litigation.

The amount does not represent profit, the report pointed out, the cost of feeding the prisoners not being deducted from the total which was submitted by the auditors to accounting departments of the county, to be checked against county records.

The statistics were those given by the sheriff's office to the auditing firm, Wansley, Crandall and Reuter.

What profit the sheriff may have made from the transactions remains to be shown. Trial of the fee suit is set for December 5.

The sheriff received an average of $160 per month or $19,320 per year for feeding the prisoners, according to the figures presented by the San Diego auditors today. From that he would be required to pay the cost of the feeding, which Attorney Hervey recently estimated to be slightly more than two-thirds of the total amount received. Hervey estimated the feeding profit between $5000 and $6000 per year.

Of the 37 months' receipts presented by the auditors, the highest was for July, 1936, which was $2509.20, and the lowest was $1,400.88, for February, 1937.

NOTED SCIENTIST DEAD

LONG BEACH, Cal., Oct. 17.—(UP)—Harry W. Graybill, 63, a pathologist internationally known for his work in poultry disease, died here yesterday of a heart attack.

Formerly with the Rockefeller Institute in New York, Graybill from 1926-36 was director of the poultry division of the California State Department of Agriculture. He established poultry disease control stations at Petaluma, San Diego and Los Angeles.

PARDON MY ACCENT

TWO INJURED IN 7 WEEK-END CRASHES

Two persons were injured in week-end traffic of the county, according to reports of police and hospital authorities.

Mrs. Bertha Davis, 19, Los Angeles, was in Santa Ana Valley hospital today for treatment of fractured jaw and shoulder received in a crash yesterday. Yesterday afternoon on Huntington Beach boulevard, Frances Craig, 50, Los Angeles, was injured when a truck driven by Mike Carriaburu, Artesia, and car driven by B. M. Allen, 43, Los Angeles, collided. The accident occurred a mile and one-half south of Buena Park.

Other Accidents
None was injured in the following accidents: On Newport road near the Boulevard Seed store, Saturday, cars driven by Florence Wickstrom, 45, Los Angeles, and W. G. Cooper, 37, Costa Mesa, collided; on Santa Ana canyon road two miles north of Olive, last evening, cars driven by William J. Owen, 55, Long Beach, and an unidentified driver, crashed; on 101 highway, two-tenths of a mile south of Imperial highway, a car driven by Floyd Haxton, Fullerton, collided with Lupe Lopez, 22, Anaheim pedestrian. Both Carriaburu and Haxton were ticketed for driving without licenses.

Cars driven by Lorna Taylor, 1233 South Parton, and Robert Adams, Tustin, collided at First and Sycamore Saturday evening, and Officers N. C. Nelson and L. C. Rogers reported finding a wrecked car at Oak and Delhi road. Apparently the car, registered to Harold McBride, went out of control after hitting a dip in the highway. Two wheels were smashed.

Dies Outlines 6-Point Plan

contributors and what is done with the money.

4. Legislation outlawing such organizations as the Communist party, the German-American Bund and Italian Fascist, "or any other organization that is shown to be under the control of foreign government."

5. The Government "seriously and aggressively oppose all legislation, movements or efforts that tend to promote racial, religious or class hatred."

6. An earnest effort by all Americans to "establish sympathetic understanding between all creeds, all races and groups" whose common desire is to preserve Democratic institutions and processes.

Declaring Communists, Fascists, and Nazis is this country aim to establish a political and economic dictatorship, under which the people would forfeit their liberties and become servants of the state. Dies exhorted the nation to begin applying the antidote of Americanism.

History shows, he asserted, that Communism is the forerunner of Fascism and Nazism. Intelligent people will not long endure Communism and, "in their disgust and desperation, they invariably turn to Fascism and Nazism," he said.

Dies, whose committee resumes hearings in the Capital tomorrow, contended the nation must be protected adequately against the invasion of alien doctrines as it is against that of foreign troops.

Disney Cartoon To Be In Register

when people begin to talk of the deep significance of his creations.

"We just try to make a good picture," he says, "and then the professors come along and tell us what we have done."

When Disney arrived in Hollywood in 1923, he had already produced a few animated cartoon films. The son of an Irish-Canadian farmer and German-American mother, he was born in Chicago in 1901. Before starting his life work, he had been a newspaper cartoonist, commercial artist, art student, truck driver and dabbled in several other arts and trades.

In Hollywood young Disney went into partnership with his older brother Roy. That partnership still stands. Roy is the business manager of the Walt Disney Enterprises. Walt is the artistic genius and driving force.

"Roy must be good at his job," Walt once said. "We get our paychecks every week."

Result of Dream
Disney had only fair success with his films until Mickey Mouse was born. The idea of Mickey, it is said, was conceived during a sleepless night in an upper berth. Mickey was just so-so in his first two films, but the third, "Steamboat Willie," was a whooping success. That was in 1928, and since then the older Disney brother has had little trouble meeting the payroll. The Silly Symphonies were the next big Disney hit—then came the explosive fame of Donald Duck.

Donald, whose fan-mail today equals that of Mickey Mouse, is four years old. Donald was never intended to be a star but showed such talent for running away with a picture, that top-billing was inevitable. The eccentric duck, according to his creator, has only one regret—the fact that he was not allowed to play the part of Snow White.

No Preference
Asked which of his creations he prefers, Walt Disney shrugs diplomatic shoulders. "That's as bad as asking a mother," he says, "which child is her favorite."

Hollywood's Aesop, as Gene Fowler calls him, is married, has two small daughters, and is known in Hollywood as a hard-working cent who is bored by night-clubs.

What really excites him is his work at Walt Disney Studios—a strange and wonderful place with a $75,000 camera and 650 artists, animators, gag men, musical directors, camera-men, technical experts and others. To Disney and his eager helpers that plant is more fun than the most lavish hot-spot in Hollywood.

Alien Case To Be Reviewed

were suspended when the circuit court rendered its opinion in the Strecker case. Born in Australia, Bridges, like Strecker, has taken out first papers but never has completed the naturalization process.

The government, in appealing the Strecker case, contended that membership in the Communist party is a deportable offense, on the grounds that the party advocates overthrow of the government by force.

In the Strecker case, the circuit court ruled that sufficient evidence had not been offered by the government to show conclusively that Communists advocated overthrow of the government or preached against it, although conceding that such might have been the case in the early 1920s, just after the Russian revolution.

JAMES N. WALKER DIES IN HOSPITAL

A resident of Santa Ana and Orange for the past 20 years, James Norman Walker, 68, of 402 South Garnsey, died at Santa Ana hospital yesterday after an illness lasting three months. ## Sheriff Named On Probation Group

Sheriff Logan Jackson today had received word from W. L. Goslin, president of the Western Paroles and Probation association, of his appointment to membership on the standing committee for cooperation among law enforcement officers.

"This committee will promote cordial relations between and among parole and probation officials and boards and all other law enforcement officers, agencies and groups," Goslin stated. "The committee will attempt to banish misunderstandings between parole and probation officers and other officers." The chairman of the committee is Adolphe D. Hanson, secretary of the state board of pardons, Cheyenne, Wyo.

Sheppard Blasts 'WPA Politicians'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(Special)—"Many of the problems now confronting WPA in the 19th California congressional district can be directly laid to the door and chargeable to ambitious politicians in the WPA," Representative Harry R. Sheppard (Democrat), California, charged in a statement made public here today.

"There is a federal law prohibiting any solicitation of funds from WPA workers for campaign purposes," with which I heartily concur," the statement said.

Sheppard said WPA workers have as much right to their choice and vote as any other citizen.

Propositions Will Be Meeting Theme

Measures on the November ballot will be subjects for discussion at the Public Affairs Council meeting tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the Y.M.C.A. Half of the propositions on the ballot will be discussed at that time, R. B. Newcom, president, and William Tway, secretary, said. L. L. Beeman will be program chairman.

The anti-picketing measure will be discussed from the affirmative standpoint by Tway while a union man will be sought to take the opposite viewpoint. The motor vehicle taxation and highway patrol propositions (3 and 4) will be discussed by two men, E. M. Sundquist will talk on taxation of insurance companies. Relief administration will be discussed by someone from county welfare department, probably and Terry Stephenson will discuss apportionment of funds, state and county boards of equalization and deposit and control of state money (Propositions 8, 11 and 13.)

Each speaker should talk briefly, then a general discussion should be held, President Newcom suggested.

Police Witnesses At Slaying

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Oct. 17.—(UP)—Mrs. Patricia Holbrook, 34, shot and killed her husband, William, 42, former assistant prosecuting attorney, in front of the Benton Harbor police station early today two minutes after she had been released from custody.

Holbrook had asked police a few minutes earlier to "hold her awhile so she can't bother me." Special Policeman William Pugh witnessed the shooting. He and another officer seized Mrs. Holbrook and took her back into the station.

Drug Company Group Plans Tour

As the conclusion of an eight-month sales campaign conducted among the 2000 employees of the Owl Drug company was reached, 17 members of the company today prepared for a two weeks trip to Washington, D. C. and Boston, Mass.

Winners in the sales contest are from every part of the Pacific coast, and include among them H. W. Bygott, district manager for the Southern California area.

PROSECUTION OF DRIVER RESUMED

With its principal witness removed by death, the district attorney's office today resumed its prosecution of Fred C. Gaskill, charged with felony drunk driving.

The trial, started a few days ago, was recessed until today to permit recovery of J. W. Buck, other driver involved in the traffic accident upon which the charge against Gaskill was based. Buck was not injured in the crash, but developed illness later and was unable to appear at the trial before Judge H. G. Ames. His illness proved fatal.

Susan Buck and Roxie Bennett were assertedly injured in the accident, which took place at Fifth and Sycamore streets, Santa Ana, July 16.

Deputy District Attorney George Tobias is conducting Gaskill's prosecution, with Attorney Adrian Marks appearing for the defense.

Jury Hears Suit For $5033 Damages

The $5033 damage suit brought by May E. Roberts against J. W. Camm, Ida May Camm and their son, Bill Camm, as the result of a traffic crash at West Whittier and 10th avenues, Fullerton, last August, went to trial today before a jury in Superior Judge George K. Scovel's court.

May Roberts and John Davis, driver of the car in which she was riding at the time of the crash, were the first witnesses summoned by Attorney William L. Waters of Fullerton, representing the plaintiff. Attorneys Franklin G. West, Santa Ana, and Joseph Spray, Los Angeles, conducted the defense.

WATER ROAR INTO GREAT CANAL TUESDAY

Hollywood, Here They Come

WATER TO OPEN ROSE PROJECTS

BRAWLEY, Cal., Oct. 17.—(UP)—Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes tonight and tomorrow will press the buttons giving outlying farm towns their first luxury of electricity, and turning the waters of the Colorado river into the world's greatest irrigation system. Tonight at Brawley Ickes will dedicate the 600 mile rural electrification network built by the Imperial Irrigation district. He will throw the switch sending current into the system supplying every town in Imperial Valley including some hamlets that have never had electric service heretofore. Ten thousand persons were expected.

Tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock Secretary Ickes will press another button sending the first water into the all-American canal from behind Imperial dam.

The dam and canal were built to replace an older system that goes partly into Mexico. A total of 1,500,000 acres will be irrigated.

Imperial dam is 20 miles above Yuma on the Colorado river. It is half a mile long and cost $7,500,000. The concrete buttress is designed to raise the river level 20 feet so the water may flow out into canal heads on either side of the river.

On the California side are the headworks of the all-American canal which will irrigate 500,000 acres now under cultivation in the east mesa of the Imperial area and at the southern end of the Coachella valley.

Headworks of the Gila project are on the Arizona side. They will divert water from irrigation of the Yuma mesa and the Gila river valley lands. A total of 600,000 acres will be watered.

Tomorrow's dedication will turn the water from the river into only the first 21 miles of the canal. Though the dam is completed after two and one-half years work by 2500 men, the canal is still unfinished. Its entire length will not be put into operation until 1940.

Members of the Skating Club of New York decided that Queen-of-the-Ice Sonja Henie had better freeze onto her crown after watching London's 13-year-old Hazel Franklin, above, demonstrate her figure skating talents. A pupil of Howard Nicholson, who coaches Miss Henie, the mature skill of the attractive little Briton received enthusiastic applause in her first American appearance at the Skating Club's opening tea. She looks forward to a Hollywood career.

UNUSUAL WORK BY FIREMEN IN SCHOOLS WELCOMED BY GROUPS

The fire department, under direction of Fire Chief John Luxemburger and Fire Marshall Frank D. Corey, is doing unusual work in the schools this year. Instead of the contests which have been held heretofore in the matter of evacuation of the building at an alarm, the department is presenting a program which is of unusual value to the children as well as to teachers.

Demonstrations are conducted showing the causes of electric over-loads resulting in fire due to over-heated electric lines; demonstrations of the values of the use of cleaning fluids and the dangers incident to their use in closed rooms; explanation of the use of fire alarm boxes and the importance of knowing their locations in the neighborhood, and demonstration of the proper use of the familiar soda and acid fire extinguishers which the children see about the buildings but the use of which is a mystery to them.

In addition, the program is concluded with an excellent sound picture which is instructive as well as entertaining. It shows the results of false alarms and the punishments which follow the turning in of such alarms.

The program is presented by Assistant Fire Chief Garthe and by Firemen Paul Reynolds, Sam Pink and William Kintz. All the equipment was built in the department by Fire Engineers Everett Skaggs and Dave Smith, and the posters were prepared by Firemen Paul Reynolds.

The department has been congratulated on the instructive program, and the schools are co-operating fully in these lessons.

INTERRUPTIONS
Please do not interrupt the teacher in her classroom work. No matter how important the matter appears to you, wait until you can have an appointment with the teacher.

A teacher has limited time in which to do a great deal of work. She has to account for every minute, literally every minute, of her time in school. Some of our lesson periods are so short that if we have to go to the door and talk to a visitor, the lesson is lost. If there are forty odd children in the class, as is usual, the loss is severe.

A teacher cannot attend to a visitor and a class at the same time. If she tells the class to take out their books and study they take out the books, and that's that. Again a lesson is lost. It is wrong to stop a teacher's current work, and thought, in order to center her attention upon your one child. She never gives you her undivided mind because the class is dragging on her conscience. You get nothing much, the class gets less, and the waste is all out of proportion to the gain.

When you want to see the teacher make an appointment with her. Ask her to set the day and the hour and the place. Tell her what you want to talk about so she can have records and material ready if they are needed. Tell her also what days and hours are best for you, AFTER school hours. Don't expect her to stop teaching.

POLICE PROTECTION ORDERED FOR GAMES

Police protection for all future afternoon and night football games in Pomona has been ordered as result of an altercation after the October 7 game between Pomona and Fullerton junior colleges. The altercation, in which Dean Edwin T. Martin of Pomona suffered broken nose and head injuries, involved Dale Roberts, 23, of Fullerton.

Roberts pleaded guilty before Justice U. E. White of Pomona, asked probation. The probation hearing was set for October 27 at 10 a. m.

Johnston E. Walker, high school and junior college principal, announced no more dances will be held in the gymnasium following games. Martin assertedly was assaulted after Roberts, not a student at Fullerton junior college, sought to attend the dance with companions who are members of the Fullerton school, and was excluded.

S. U. V. ACCEPTS BID OF LEGION

With Commander Perry Grout in charge of the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War at their regular business session in M. W. A. hall voted to accept the invitation sent them by the American Legion Post of Orange, and participate in the Memorial exercises on the evening of November 10, with their colors.

E. J. Parker, a delegate to the National Encampment which was held in Des Moines, Iowa, gave an interesting report of the various activities during the convention. One thing particular of interest to all was that the U. S. highway commissioners had granted permission for the extension of U. S. Highway No. 6, from Greeley, Colorado, to Los Angeles, Calif., thereby completing this highway from the Atlantic to the Pacific to be designated as Grand Army of the Republic Highway, in memory of the Boys in Blue of 1861 to 1865.

Regular Potluck Affair
On the evening of October 23 the Sons and Daughters will meet in M. W. A. hall for their regular potluck and social meeting. This will be in the nature of an old-time Halloween party. Commander Grout appointed C. F. Millen to assist the Daughters in arranging program and decorations.

W. I. Davis, C. E. Brayton and J. R. Moore were appointed as a nominating committee to nominate officers for the coming year. Dining room committee for the potluck dinner includes Roy E. Kelchner, R. S. Thompson, C. E. Brayton. The camp will have Department, Inspector Frank L. Cleveland, of Los Angeles, with them in the December meeting for inspection.

Beware The Cough

From a common cold That Hangs On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your common cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you may get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements found in many cough remedies, such as Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, and fluid extract of Licorice Root, but it also has fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect, and most important of all, Beechwood Creosote nicely blended with all of these so that it will reach the source of the trouble from the inside.

Thousands of people, who really know their drugs, use Creomulsion in their own families, realizing that this excellent preparation aids nature to soothe the inflamed mucous membranes, to heal the irritated tissues, and to loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm. Druggists also know the effectiveness of Beechwood Creosote and they rank Creomulsion "tops" for coughs because in it you get a good dose of Creosote emulsified so that it is palatable, and may be taken frequently by both adults and children with remarkable results.

Creomulsion is generally found satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritation, especially those stubborn ones due to common colds that hang on for dreadful days and nights thereafter. Don't worry through another sleepless night—use Creomulsion. Even if other remedies have failed, your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not satisfied with the relief obtained.

Creomulsion is one word, ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product, and the relief you want. (Adv.)

Stanford's Hopes Rise • • • Grid Upset of Week • • • Trojans Smash Cougars

Down in the dumps after disastrous defeat by Santa Clara and hollow victory over W.S.C., the Stanford Indians rose from an underdog position to bowl over undefeated University of Oregon, 27-10. In a wide-open, razzle-dazzle game, Stanford came from behind twice to win their second conference game. Photo shows Webfoot fullback Frank Emmons breaking through a hole over center for a first down.

The University of Washington Huskies, touted by pre-season sports-writers as "the team to watch," bowed to the surprising O.S.C. Beavers 13 to 6 in the coast's biggest upset. Photo shows Beaver Vic Kohler (23), feet thrust high, being dumped after a long run, by Merle Miller (50) Husky halfback.

Washington State's Cougars lost their fourth Pacific Coast conference football game in as many weeks when the hard-hitting U.S.C. Trojans rolled up a 19 to 6 victory. A crowd of 30,000 watched the southern team hit its stride in the second half and break up W.S.C.'s last grid hopes. Photo shows Holmes (41) ready to tackle Landsell (78) U.S.C. star, on an end run. No. 40 coming up to help is Brown, Cougar left end.

POMONA HERE FRIDAY NIGHT TO FACE DONS

After watching his Dons triumph over a weak Citrus eleven, 25-0, and then rushing north to see the Stanford-Oregon thriller as guest of "Tex" Oliver and Bill Cole Saturday afternoon, Coach Bill Cook was back in town today worrying about Santa Ana's second conference start with Pomona Jaycee. This will be played in the Municipal Bowl, Friday night.

"They'll be tough," was Cook's only comment on the Red Raiders. Singling out players whom he thought deserved mention, Cook named Vic Lindskog, state Diamond Belt amateur heavyweight champion, as the most improved member of the Don squad. Lindskog's vicious blocking may win him a regular berth. Sam Henderson also was nominated by Cook as a star of the Citrus encounter. The former Brea-Olinda prep turned in a bang-up game one of the Dons' touchdown drives.

Coach Joe Bonnet's Pomona eleven have lost two heartbreakers in a row. Fullerton stopped them, 19-12, after the Raiders had taken a 13-point lead in the first eight minutes. Then San Bernardino's powerful eleven was able to eke out only a 6-0 win, a disputed victory at that. The touchdown pass from Hal Finney to End Johnny Thompson was caught in the end zone and held only momentarily. Pomona players and fans claimed it was an incomplete pass. Referee Bill Foote ruled otherwise and the Raiders lost their chance for a 6-0 tie.

Coach Bonnet will field one of the fastest backfields in conference history here. All four of Pomona's backs are speedburners. "Bud" Gray, quarterback; Ellsworth Booth, left half; and Bruce Drummond, fullback, make for a combination of speed that will be hard to stop. Jack Hager is the fourth member of the Raider backfield.

The Orange County Mixed Doubles championship will be decided on Santa Ana high school's courts next Sunday. Entries close Friday. Toby White and Katherine Williams are defending titlists.

The PAYOFF

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD
(NEA Service Sports Writer)

A Brooklyn fan comes up with documentary proof that the longest completed pass on record is not the 87-yard effort from Brad Robinson to Jack Schneider of St. Louis University, supposedly made Nov. 3, 1906, against Kansas...

The Flatbush enthusiast has proof in the form of the St. Louis University Yearbook of that season which indicates that the mark doesn't belong in the records at all...

The book gives the actual distance as 48 yards and prints a picture of the game, under which the caption reads:

"The record pass for the season—made by Robinson, who threw the ball 48 yards."

The theory is that the remaining 39 yards were covered on the ground by the receiver after catching the ball...

Frank Hugo, Syracuse trainer since 1925, rates Johnny Swarr, senior center, as the toughest player in Syracuse history...

Swarr, now in his third year of varsity play, has not required medical attention...His only visits to the physician were to perform for Ohio State, now traps speedsters...He is a state highway patrolman...operating out of Findlay, O...

Kerby Cushing waxes enthusiastic about John Wysocki, the Wildcats' All-America end...

"Even prosperity couldn't turn his corner," writes the Villanova press agent.

Makes Just As Much Sense As An Ordinary Huddle

Carl Snavely, Columbia guard, has made a hobby of beekeeping ever since his grade-school days, and has yet to be stung...

Tony Famighetti of Lehigh is a former Golden Gloves heavyweight champion... Charley Miller of Dartmouth is a varsity skier...

Add queer huddles and shifts: Ohio Wesleyan comes out of the huddle and goes into a shift which finds all 11 men lined up, one behind the other, in a perpendicular line to scrimmage...before going into the final shift...

Marietta College, also in the Buckeye state, has quite a complicated huddle... In one section is the captain, center, and quarter-back...two groups of four form two other huddles, with the captain giving the signal to one group and the quarterback informing the other.

No, we haven't the slightest idea as to the whys and wherefores.

Indians To Take Busman's Holiday In Chicago

Dartmouth will take a busman's holiday, Nov. 19, on the way to Palo Alto to meet Stanford...Stopping off in Chicago, the Indians will see Notre Dame and Northwestern tangle at Dwyer Stadium before continuing on to the coast.

Pitt's grid foes will still have the Goldbergs to contend with after Marshall graduates next June...his younger brother, Bill, is one of the outstanding boys on the Panther freshman squad...

And our nomination for one of the greatest wastes of time in the sport: 11 men going into a huddle on fourth down and eight to go...slowing things up by 10 or more seconds...and then coming out to punt...

As if everyone didn't know they were going to do that all along.

LEONARD FACES O'SHANNON IN O. C. A. C. RING

"Red" O'Shannon, the slugging red-headed Mexican from Boyle Heights, climbs in the ring tonight at the Orange County Athletic club to battle Jackie Leonard of Whittier in the top half of the double main event.

Leonard is just as tough as O'Shannon with the added advantage of being a more clever boxer. This may be the Whittier boy's final appearance in the Highway 101 arena as he is planning to turn professional within a short time.

In the second half of the double main go Pete O'Neil of Wilmington meets Jack Thompson of Los Angeles at 152 pounds.

Jesse James Jackson, the San Bernardino Negro who outslugged Wayne Penn last week in a dynamic battle, tangles with Frankie Gardea of Boyle Heights. Both Jackson and Gardea are sluggers and clever ring generals.

Lupe Placencia, Santa Ana's "Old Reliable" has moved up a spot and will fight Don Crawford of Los Angeles in the feature match.

Other bouts on the card are: George Hill, Sherman Institute vs. Sammy Walker, Ebon Club, 143 pounds; Bob Blake, Santa Ana Junior College, vs. Fay Suvia, Los Angeles, 122 pounds; Uly Davis, Sherman Institute, vs. Wally Bailey, Ebon Club, 138 pounds and Jack Harris, Long Beach, vs. George Links, Ebon Club, 156 pounds.

'Y' BASKETBALL LEAGUE OPENS

Tonight brings the opening games of the long series to be played by the ten teams of the Y. M. C. A. Basketball league.

At 7:15, the Southern Counties Gas company aggregation faces Treewest Products and at 8:30 Karl's Shoe Salesmen take on the milkmen from Patterson's Dairy. There is promise of two close games and a filled gallery is expected.

Wednesday night's contests start at 7:15 with the Barr Lumber company facing the men who represent T. J. Neal's Sporting Goods store, followed at 8:30 by the Famous Department Store and Al's Lock and Key shop.

Thursday there will be but one game at 8 o'clock between the strong Irvine team and a new combination representing Elitiste company. Later on it is expected that the Thursday evening schedule will include challenge and match games from other leagues.

A meeting of teams at the Y. M. C. A. served to put on the finishing touches to the schedule and was the opinion of managers that they are all set to go for a great season. The teams appear to be evenly matched and wise observers are predicting a close race for the pennant, with no outstanding favorites in sight yet.

Games will be played through the season in the Y. M. C. A. gym. A small admission fee will be charged to help defray the expense of the teams.

MRS. HALL WINNER OF PRESIDENT CUP

Mrs. Paul Hall today had possession of the Women's President's Cup at the Santa Ana Country club after defeating Mrs. L. Homer Robinson, 5 and 4, in the championship round yesterday.

The trophy was presented by President R. A. Emison.

Frank Cory defeated Bill Lowe in the final round of the Defeated flight in the men's President's Cup series.

A. B. Watson and Warren Fletcher took first place in Saturday's best-ball competition with a 72-68. Second were Jack Robertson and Lew Wallace, 75-68.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORT BY EDDIE WEST

COACHES IN THE NEWS

Yes, it's true about the "Tex" Olivers. Intimates here have known for some time that the stork was flapping but kept mum until Braven Dyer "Winchelled" it Sunday...

Dave Meikeljohn of the Pomona Progress-Bulletin blames our man Bill Foote for the 6-0 defeat of Pomona junior college by San Bernardino Friday night.

"... Foote couldn't defeat Pomona high school's Red Devils in the afternoon but with stripes on his shirt and a little whistle he umpired San Bernardino Jaycee to a 6-0 victory, etc., etc." editorialized Dave in his news account of the contest which was another heart-breaking setback for the Raiders.

In the fourth quarter, San Bernardino's Finney connected on end zone pass to End Thompson. Meikeljohn claims Thompson caught the ball, fumbled it as he fell, then scooped it off the ground.

Referee Russ Cripe, writes Meikeljohn, "thought it was an incomplete pass, which anybody in his right mind would have called it..." But Foote ran after Cripe and said, no, it was a touchdown. What 2999 Pomona fans called Mr. Foote will go in history as proof that the American people have increased their vocabulary.

Another Santa Ana who inadvertently made news over the week-end was Bill Cole, line coach at Oregon U., and a San Francisco...

Crisler Forgot; Try For Point Important

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK—I will gladly furnish the use of my living room, also some suitable punch and sandwiches, if any of you would care to join me in an informal discussion of that football problem child, the try for point: after touchdown.

I will serve as chairman of the meeting, not only because I am neutral on the subject and know the rudiments of parliamentary procedure, but because being chairman would allow me to rise to a point of disorder whenever I liked and serve another slug of punch.

Certainly there is a need for discussion concerning the try for the extra point. It causes too many heartaches, costs too many jobs and brings about too much controversy each fall to be ignored. The tremendously important part it plays in a great sport is evident to everyone who reads the scores of the games each Saturday. Not a week goes by without a dozen or more important games being won or lost by the extra point.

Minnesota's 7 to 6 victory over Michigan in the battle for the "Little Brown Jug" was Saturday's standout example. George Faust, Minnesota quarterback, kicked the extra point and Dan Smick, Michigan end, didn't.

Those who dislike the extra point, and urge its discontinuance, probably will employ the statistics of this game in their argument in the meeting at my house. (You are coming, aren't you?) They are likely to point out that a team which makes 13 first downs to its opponent's six, gains 157 yards rushing against 91, and completes more than three times as many forward passes, all of which Michigan did, shouldn't be robbed of victory, or at worst, a tie.

Neutral as I am, such an argument makes quite a bit of sense to me, and also makes me ask if it is right for any one play to be so potent that failure can nullify an afternoon of fine blocking, tackling and passing.

On the other hand, there is no getting around the cool, crisp logic that the point after touchdown is as fair for one team as for another and that coaches, of all people, should know its importance and spend much energy and time in developing a player who can boot the ball through what I like to call the uprights.

Perhaps the tip-off on Michigan's failure to kick the extra point is contained in the book "Practical Football," whose author is Fritz Crisler, the Michigan coach. I chanced to pull this book off the shelf yesterday and browse through its delightful pages on arrangement of schedule, shoulder blocks, offensive play, end play, the passing game, generalship, scouting and coaching problems.

With the details of Michigan's defeat by Minnesota still fresh in my mind, and being somewhat of an old man, I dooked to see how much space Author Crisler devoted to the try after touchdown. Not finding it listed in the table of contents I thumbed through the book rather carefully. Still I didn't find even so much as a paragraph on the subject. There was quite a bit of information on kicking in general, but nowhere did I find a warning to coaches to lay stress on developing a man who could be counted on to add the extra point.

I'll bet you that the next edition of Author Crisler's book will have plenty to say on the subject.

GRID EMPIRES TOTTER ON DAY OF BIG UPSETS

By HARRY FERGUSON
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK—Let's gather up the pieces carefully today and try to speak some decent words over the dead hopes of football teams that got caught in the week-end hurricane of upsets.

Please omit flowers. By all means omit roses if you want to sympathize with Alabama, Columbia, Pennsylvania and Cornell who were unbeaten until the hurricane hit them and were having lovely dreams of a bowl filled with roses in Pasadena on New Year's Day.

Not since the time when the tortoise beat the hare has there been a day of so much surprise. Weak teams rose up and licked strong ones; little fellows knocked off big guys; last-minute touchdowns wrecked months of careful preparation.

Today the National picture is clearer with these teams gobbling up all the space in the foreground: Far West—California, which marched on with a decisive, 20 to 7 victory over a strong U. C. L. A. outfit.

Midwest—Minnesota, still panting from that narrow victory over Michigan by a heart-stopping 7 to 6.

South—Tennessee, which rammed the doubts down the throats of the doubters with a brilliant 13-0 victory over an Alabama team that looked like a safe bet for an undefeated season.

Southwest—Texas Christian, which seems to be able to turn its power on and off as the occasion demands. Saturday T. C. U. rolled up a 34-to-6 victory over a Texas A. and M. outfit that is better than the score looks.

East—Pittsburgh first and Dartmouth second. Saturday was the day that Pitt really was supposed to be tested by a sturdy Wisconsin squad, so all the Panthers did was win, 26 to 6; they are saying around Western Pennsylvania that this may be the greatest of Pitt's great teams and when they say you will see more good backs than a night club chorus, fooled around with Brown, winning 34 to 13.

Here are some gleanings from Saturday's reckage: Teams whose first-class play Saturday made them members in good standing of the "Surprise, Surprise Club"—Yale, Syracuse, North Carolina, Tulane, Oregon State, Stanford.

Strong teams likely to be overlooked in the rush to watch the leaders—Oklahoma, Notre Dame, Purdue, Fordham, Northwestern, Santa Clara, Baylor, Georgia Tech, Temple, Iowa State, Rice, Pennsylvania, Columbia, Auburn, Duke, Vanderbilt and Arkansas.

Teams that will be mad enough to commit murder, and probably will, for the rest of the season—Alabama and Cornell.

Biggest disappointments of the season—Nebraska, Ohio State, Texas.

Tough luck team of the year—Indiana, which has a strong squad but has been beaten 6-0, 12-2 and played a scoreless tie.

Some classy little fellows—Bowdoin, Franklin-Marshall, Wake Forest.

Game that would be worth looking your wife's engagement ring to see next Saturday—Santa Clara vs. Arkansas at San Francisco.

EL SEGUNDO BEATS GARDEN GROVE, 20-6

Piling up a 14-point lead in the first half, El Segundo high school's football squad went on to defeat Garden Grove, 20-6, at Garden Grove Saturday. Thornburn, an end, caught two touchdowns passes from Quarterback Broburg and Broburg plunged across for the other. Bob Ward, left half, made Garden Grove's touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Budge Asks $100,000 To Become Pro

CHICAGO (UP)—J. Donald Budge of California, the world's top ranking amateur tennis player, will turn professional if he receives "at least $100,000," Jack Harris, Chicago sports promoter, revealed today.

Harris made the disclosure in announcing that he had offered Budge $75,000 with the option of "a liberal percentage" for a professional tour in 1939.

"Budge's request for a guarantee of $100,000," Harris said, "is beyond reason despite the fact that he may be the greatest attraction in the history of professional tennis."

"I have made him the best offer possible for his services—more real money than has ever been made by anyone in his first year in the professional ranks... If Budge has the box office appeal that he thinks—and I believe—he possesses, he may, in a tour under my sponsorship, earn that $100,000."

Harris said he had talked to Budge by long distance telephone at Oakland.

SAINTS PLAY AT RIVERSIDE NEXT

Santa Ana's Saints may be jumping from the trying pan into the fire this week.

All but eliminated from the Citrus Belt league championship race by Pomona, the defending champions are asked to meet Riverside's growing Bears at Riverside Friday afternoon. Like Pomona, Riverside has titular ambitions of its own and comes up to the Saint conflict undefeated and untied.

Most impressive of Riverside's three victories was a 13-0 clincher over Chaffey Saturday. Chaffey was the pre-season co-favorite with Pomona, and Riverside (on paper) had no business pushing the Tigers around. But it did, even more conclusively than the score indicates. Riverside made 16 first downs to 5 and 323 yards to 88 in a remarkable display of running and passing for a prep team.

Coach Clyde Patton, who scouted the contest for the Saints, reported to Coach Bill Foote that the Bears have power to burn. Riverside outcharged Chaffey's 190-pound line and Sophomore Stan Boyd ran the Tiger ends ragged. This does not augur well for Santa Ana's chances; and play has been the weakest part of the Saint defense.

Coach Foote plans no particular changes in his lineup despite Pomona's 19-0 win. He will try desperately to improve the charge of his various and sundry "waiting ends" who were all but blown out of the Bowl for playing a waiting defense against Pomona's fine blockers. "Chuck" Pride, the transplanted tackle, showed his inexperience, as did the others, but Foote believes they'll all be better for the Pomona experience. Jim Blackwell will get a chance as the other starting wing in all probability.

If possible, Foote will arrange a schedule with Anaheim or some other Orange county prep squad for tomorrow.

'PRODUCE OR ELSE' NOTICE GIVEN, REPORT

By JAMES A. SULLIVAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SAN FRANCISCO—Undeclared University of California meets victory-less University of Washington this week in a Pacific Coast conference football game which may decide a gridiron coach's future.

The word is around that Jimmy Phelan, Washington coach, has been notified to "produce or else" against the California Bears.

Because of its probable significance, it's the top game of a busy Saturday which finds two outside engagements for big eight members, and some big-time stuff among "Independents" on the program.

University of Southern California and Stanford, sharing conference leadership with California on the basis of two wins for each, clash at Palo Alto. Each looked ragged and then brilliant in spots Saturday, S. C. in subduing dormat Washington State, 19-6, and Stanford in coming from the rear twice to give Oregon its first defeat, 27-16.

Oregon is traveling east to meet Fordham team.

U.C.L.A., which battled California even for 22 minutes before losing, 20-7, to the Golden Bears, also goes outside the conference to take on Idaho. Idaho trimmed Gonzaga, 24-12, last Saturday.

The third conference game of the day finds Washington State meeting Oregon State at Portland. Washington State lost its fourth straight Saturday to S. C., while Oregon State pulled one of the day's surprises with a 13-6 win over Washington.

Santa Clara leads the "Independent" group with a clash against Arkansas. The Broncos won their third game Saturday by beating Arizona, 27-0, keeping their unscored-on record intact. St. Mary's, which beat Portland 32-7 Sunday in a furious last period drive, goes against a U.S.F. team which has an unbeaten record. Montana, beaten for the first time, by Texas Tech, 19-13, plays North Dakota State at Grand Forks. Loyola and Arizona tangle Friday night. Portland Brigham Young at Provo.

KENESTON DEFENDS TITLE HERE THURS.

For the second time since winning the title, Bob Keneston, junior or heavyweight wrestling champion, will defend his title Thursday night at the Orange County Athletic club.

Winning the title several weeks ago in an upset at the Hollywood stadium when he defeated Duke Chick, the former champion, Keneston put his crown on the block three days later in a match at the Highway 101 arena. Last Monday night he successfully defended it against Chick and this week will defend it against Alvin Britt, former champion who lost his title to Chick.

The championship match, a three-fall, finish affair, will be the main event on Promoter "Bud" Levin's card.

In the semi-windup Levin is presenting a team match that will go for three falls to a finish. Jimmy Lott of Alabama and Pat "Pop-eye" O'Brien, two favorites with O. C. A. wrestling fans, clash with "Tarzan" Orth and Steve Tasakoff.

VON CRAMM'S PLANS REMAIN IN DOUBT

BERLIN (UP)—The plans of Baron Gottfried Von Cramm, Germany's greatest tennis player who will be released from prison shortly, remained in doubt today. A close relative of the tennis player, who was sentenced to a year in prison for a morals offense, said only that Von Cramm was "in good health."

TREATMENT OF DOGS HUMANE

Written and Authorized by the Orange County Medical Society

At the election November 8, certain people are asking the voters of California to pass a so-called "Humane Pound Law." Although their real purpose is discussed in the wording of the initiative measure, the intention of the proposed law is to prevent doctors from using animals, especially dogs, to make any experiments for the benefit of mankind or for the benefit of the animal.

You know your own doctor pretty well. Is he a barbarian? Do you believe he ever would torture any living creature? Probably he has a dog of his own, and loves it. Do you think dogs in general are in any danger of cruel treatment by doctors?

Under the present law, vagrant dogs are being picked up by the dog catcher, taken to the local pound, kept there for a brief time, and then destroyed by the pound keeper unless they are relieved by responsible people. Medical research laboratories are permitted to take some of those vagrant animals, which otherwise would be destroyed anyway, and use them in the most humane way for experimentation in ways of preventing, controlling, alleviating, and curing diseases which afflict mankind, or diseases which menace the health and lives of lower animals. Under the proposed new law, no such vagrant dogs could be turned over to doctors or laboratory scientists for any purpose whatsoever. The advocates of this law, which would cripple all medical advance in this state, say that laboratory experiments on animals are cruel.

Those same people say a town has the right to require that a dog be licensed; and if it isn't, to take that animal to the pound and destroy it there in a few days. The dog has committed no crime; it just has no owner who is willing to pay a dollar or two a year to give it a longer lease of life. But it is all right for the dog-catcher to capture it, to crowd it into a pen with other dogs, and then to put it to death. Oh, yes, the dog catcher and the dog-prison keeper and the dog-executioner are all "humane." But the doctor is barbaric if he makes a beneficial use of that "poor animal." Let us see what happens to the dogs now, which are turned over to medical research laboratories instead of being destroyed.

All these laboratories are governed by a set of rules, and there are five principal provisions which all laboratories must obey.

1. Vagrant dogs have to be held in the laboratory kennels at least as long as they would be kept alive in the pound. (So every one of them would be dead, if he had gone to the pound instead of the laboratory, before any experiment could be started.)
2. Dogs in a laboratory must be treated with every consideration for their bodily comfort, before, during, and after any experiment. (This is a contrast to the callous treatment those same animals would receive in a pound, before being put to death.)
3. No operation of any kind is permitted without the express sanction of the Director of the Laboratory. He is held responsible for not allowing any experiment unless it is of importance in a scientific procedure to solve a problem of disease prevention, control, alleviation, or cure. (So no experiment can be conducted needlessly, or just out of scientific curiosity.)
4. Anaesthetics or other means of saving the animal from pain must be employed. (The dog is never caused to suffer unnecessarily. In fact, it is treated as a "patient" and is never subjected to cruelty.)
5. When an operation has been

ALL-GAS COOKING SCHOOL TO OPEN AT Y.W.C.A. TOMORROW

The opening of the weekly all-gas cooking class in Santa Ana Tuesday at 2:00 p. m. at the Y.W.C.A., 105 East Fifth street, will present a program called "Cooking Perfection." Mrs. Margaret Lackland and Mrs. Rosamond Church, home service directors for the gas company, will have charge of the demonstration.

performed on a dog, and it is to be observed afterward "the same care shall be taken to minimize discomforts during the convalescence as in a hospital for human being." (In other words, the doctor gives the dog just as humane treatment as he would give to a man, woman, or child.)

IF THE DOG HAD A CHOICE, CAN YOU DOUBT THAT IT WOULD PREFER TO BE IN THE HUMANE HANDS OF THE DOCTOR, RATHER THAN TO BE KILLED BY THE POUND-KEEPER.

The following diseases menace you and your family. Practically all the progress which Medical Science has made in their prevention, suppression, and control is the result of laboratory experiments on animals:

Additional Diseases: Beri-Beri; Blood Poisoning; Botulism; Bright's Disease; Bubonic Plague; Cancer; Cerebro-spinal Meningitis; Cholera; Diabetes; Diphtheria; Dysentery; Epilepsy; Erysipelas; Gonorrhea; Hookworm; Hospital Gangrene; Hydrocephalus (water on the brain); Heart Disease; Hydrophobia; Infantile Paralysis; Malaria; Measles; Pellagra; Pernicious Anemia; Pneumonia; Rickets; Scarlet Fever; Scurvy; Sleeping Sickness; Smallpox; Syphilis; Tetanus (Lockjaw); Tuberculosis; Typhoid Fever; Undulant Fever (from infected milk); Whooping cough; Yellow Fever.

A vote to stop doctors from experimenting with lower animals in the great war waged by Medical Research to save human health and lives is really a vote to have more of these diseases in California, and to have the pound keepers kill all the vagrant dogs. The animals will all be put to death by your hired executioner, anyhow. And they all will die uselessly. A against the proposed new pound law is a vote to have the doctors go on, as they have done in the past, learning more and more from animals how to save people from more and more diseases.

Animals themselves benefit tremendously by laboratory experiments on other animals. M. C. Hall, of the Bureau of Animal Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, says that if animal experimentation should be forbidden by law, "disease in livestock may rage and agriculture be ruined."

Animal experimentation has resulted in the prevention, suppression or control of the following diseases of animals themselves:

Cattle: Anthrax, Blackleg, Bovine Tuberculosis, Foot and Mouth Disease, Rinderpest, Tick fever.

Dogs: Blacktongue, Distemper, Gastro-enteritis, Mange, Nutritional Disorders, Rabies.

Hogs: Hog Cholera, Swine Erysipelas, Swine Influenza.

Horses: Brain disease, Dourine, Glanders, Tetanus.

Sheep: Anthrax, Blackleg, Doby Mouth, Lamb Dysentery, Tetanus.

Poultry: Bacillary White Diarrhea, Blackhead, Chicken Cholera.

Adult Education News

Dr. Carl Knopf of the University of Southern California, Dean of the School of Religion, will give his closing lecture on Bible Literature on Thursday. The series has proven very popular as over three hundred people have attended.

November 14—Save the Date!—The next flower arrangement lecture by J. Gregory Conway.

The class in public speaking was divided. The new section will meet on Monday evenings in room 107 at Willard.

The high school mathematics class also was divided. Those taking algebra will meet on Tuesday evenings in room 206 at Willard.

The popular piano class will move next Wednesday evening to the library of the Willard school.

Changing of the intermediate Spanish class to Tuesday resulted in several new members. We hope others will come.

The lip reading class is worth your time for a visit. Their procedures are different from any class you ever attended. That citizenship class is interesting, too.

A party of evening high school faculty and friends made up a party of some fifty who had dinner last Friday evening at the Peninsula cafe in Balboa. Later in the evening, through the courtesy of Senator Westover, the entire group enjoyed an excursion about the bay on a boat furnished by the Balboa Chamber of Commerce.

As a part of the regular gymnasium work a number of people are now playing badminton on Mondays and Wednesdays. Thursday evening has been set aside for both men and women to play badminton and other games.

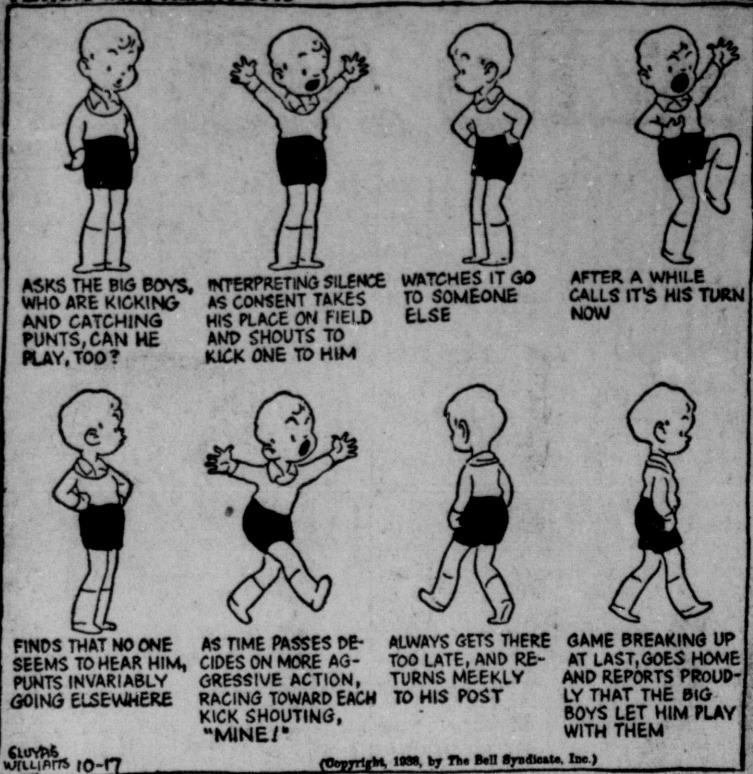

Dr. Bemis will continue his discussion of the ballot propositions at the Willard auditorium on Wednesday evening. For this week Proposition No. 7, Relief Administration, will be discussed; also, No. 8, Apportionment of State funds to cities, counties, and districts for local purposes, out of gasoline tax money; and No. 10, Oil Leases of State-owned tidelands at Huntington Beach. Everyone is invited to come and ask questions of Dr. Bemis.

The new pre-apprentice class started last week, but there is still time for any young man who wants to enter one of the building trades to enroll. Inquiries should be made of L. B. Anderson, at the office in the Old Print Shop on the high school campus.

Santa Ana should be well stocked with pianists, if the interest in Mr. Asworthy's piano class is any criterion. There is still room, however, for new enrollments in the group meeting Monday in the music room at Lathrop.

Jimmie Fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 17.—Idol Chatter: The split between Bette Davis and Harmon Nelson merely proves—once more—that "rich girl-poor boy" marriages seldom jell in Hollywood. News to me: that dignified Arthur Treacher started his career as a chorus boy. Lupe Velez always reminds me of a public address system with an accent. Cited for the Croix de Merite: Cecil B. De Mille for using all the old-timers whenever he makes a picture—he's giving the whole gang a break in "Union Pacific."

Ann Sothern's definition of a veteran screen star is one who has had at least six options shot from under him. Studies in incongruity: Marie Wilson, swanky in a dazzling cloth-of-silver evening gown, munching a hot dog with everything at Jungle Hill's roadside stand. Andrea Leeds cringes at off-color stories. It sounds shudder-some but Vic McLaglen's recipe for roast pheasant with sauerkraut stuffing is actually tops.

Errol Flynn is the only actor I know who can swagger while sitting down. Prepare for a series of de luxe horse operas this season—but the studios will call them historical frontier dramas. Ode to coincidence: the home used on location for the Jones Family pictures belongs to a Judge Hardy. Bob Burns doesn't like the new high-hair style—since it became popular no one gets a laugh out of his family album. Amazing how many throats have been cut in this town by a sharp tongue.

New York stage producers are becoming chary of engaging picture stars for their shows—and here's why, according to Sam Harris, one of the Broadway veterans. If the show happens to be a hit, it is good for at least six months on the Big Stem—and movie celebs can't stay away from the screen that long. Neither can they make the road trips that mean plenty of profit to the producer. The explanation is provoked by the case of Luise Rainer. She has a six-months vacation due her from M-G-M. She would like to do a Broadway play, and Sam Harris, it seems, would like nothing better than the chance to put her name in lights. But, with three months set aside for rehearsals, he would face the prospect of replacing her midway through the New York run in the

LET CONTRACT ON M.W.D. WORK

Emsco Derrick and Equipment company of Los Angeles has been awarded a $1,091,735 contract by the board of directors of the Metropolitan Water district for the construction of 131 miles of Metropolitan aqueduct distribution pipe lines.

The Los Angeles firm submitted the lowest bid for the construction of the pipe lines, which will carry Colorado river water to the cities of Compton, Torrance, Long Beach and the Los Angeles harbor area.

The new line, which will extend south from Ninety-eighth and Wadsworth streets to a reservoir in the Palos Verdes hills, will be a continuation of a Metropolitan aqueduct distributing feeder now under construction on the east side of Los Angeles.

Including the work for which the contract was awarded, there is a total of 335 miles of Metropolitan aqueduct conduits, siphons, tunnels, canals, and pipe lines which have already been completed or are now under construction. The initial development of the giant water supply system, which is expected to be completed in 1939, will contain a total of 392 miles of water carrying features, as well as dams, reservoirs, pumping plants and other appurtenant works.

85 Per Cent Finished

Latest progress reports now in the office of P. E. Weymouth, general manager of the Metropolitan Water district, indicate that the entire project is now more than 85 per cent completed. In addition to Compton, Torrance, Long Beach and Los Angeles, the district includes the cities of Anaheim, Bev-

THREE-LANE HIGHWAYS SAFEST, CAREFUL STATE SURVEY SHOWS

California's motoring public hardly realizes that three-lane highways have a lower ratio of side-swiping and head-on collisions than either two-lane or four-lane undivided highways, it was learned today through Capt. H. C. Meehan of the Orange county highway patrol.

Meehan pointed out that Fred Grumm, engineer of surveys and plans for the state department of public works, brought out this fact in discussing the increasing necessity for doing away with dangerous two-lane pavements.

Supporting the contention the three-lane road has been a greater safety factor than either the two or four-lane types, Grumm was quoted as saying:

"It is efficiency in relieving congestion or readily segregating lines of traffic will be observed by anyone who has followed a heavily traveled two-lane pavement and sensed the immediate freedom of movement and dispersion of congestion as soon as the three-lane width is reached.

"Proper three-lane design is not developed without careful study of future requirements, such as the ultimate conversion to four-lane divided roads."

The "harmful idiosyncrasies" of the driver, however, Grumm believes still constitutes a factor to which all highway engineers must continue to give their careful attention.

Result of Effort

He characterized the three-lane highway as an approach to this problem which simultaneously insures safety and economy. In the hills, Burbank, Fullerton, Glendale, Pasadena, San Marino, Santa Ana and Santa Monica.

PET TALKS

BY MRS. T. J. NEAL

"Obo" is a very famous name in Cocker spaniel bloodlines. You Cocker owners look over your dog's pedigree and note the Obo; take for instance Red Bruce, a dog that sired approximately 75 per cent of all prize winning cockers in America from 1885 to 1896. James Farrow, noted Englishman, originated the Obo strain in 1879. In his kennels only those spaniels which had plenty of stamina were allowed to live and they were particularly well trained to hard work in the field. Occasionally now there will be a throw back to this larger Cocker, Spanish which are known as the field type Cocker.

Don't feel sorry for your goldfish during cold weather. It's the hot, sultry days of summer that gets these pets. During our last torrid weather of September there were many reports of goldfish dying. In experiments conducted at a large university, goldfish were frozen 552 times without any apparent harm to them.

Very often we hear, "don't feed milk to your dog or puppy as it causes worms." This is arrant nonsense. Milk cannot cause worms any more than doughnuts. Neither will meat cause worms. Milk, however, brings about their rapid development after they have already gained access to the intestine. The puppy drinks the milk and digests it and, before its absorption into the system can take place, the worm gobbles it up as fast as it comes.

GUNMEN ROB S. A. DRUGGIST

2 HURL THREAT. FLEE WITH $50

"If you step out of the place after we leave, I'll blow you up!" That was the terse statement of one of two bandits who robbed the Charles Guard drug store at Bishop and Main streets of $50 Saturday at 10:35 p. m. and made good their escape in spite of the fact Louis Madden, clerk in the store, fired at the fleeing car with a shotgun loaded with bird-shot.

Descriptions Gained

The bandits are described as follows: No. 1, six feet, one inch tall, weighing 170 pounds, having medium complexion, dark hair and wearing brown suit and having no hat; No. 2, five feet five inches tall, weighing 145 pounds, having medium complexion, blue shirt, dark brown hair and wearing brown suit. The tall bandit is about 27, the short one, about 30. Entering the store, the men pretended to be slightly intoxicated, ordered lemon Coca-Colas and began sipping them. After the drinks were partially consumed, one bandit followed Madden to the rear of the store when he ordered some adhesive tape. The second bandit stuck a gun in Madden's ribs and gave his warning. Simultaneously, the bandits opened both cash registers, taking $27 from one, $23 from the other.

Takes Up Chase

Jumping into an old coupe, the man sped east on Bishop, turning north onto Cypress. As they turned, Madden fired a shotgun at the car.

Whether it was hit is not known. Some bird-shot were found embedded in the side of a house at the corner, Robert Naylor, 1212 Lacy, who drove up at the time, gave chase but couldn't locate the bandits. Officer Charles Wolford said he does not believe the bandits were those who committed two other Santa Ana drug store robberies several weeks ago.

Display Original Muir Manuscripts At U. S. C. Building

Honoring the acknowledged leader of the conservation movement in the United States, an extensive display of original manuscripts and drawings by John Muir has been placed on exhibition in the treasure room of the Edward L. Doheny Memorial Library building at the University of Southern California.

To be opened for public inspection this week the exhibit will be at U. S. C. for a month. It was arranged through the John Muir association and commemorates the one hundredth anniversary of Muir's birth in Scotland.

In a feature spot in the exhibit is a new book, "John of the Mountains," by Linnie Marsh Wolfe, who has edited previously unpublished journals kept by Muir. A difficult task, the editing made necessary co-ordination of three different journals with fragmentary notes. Muir made no attempt to keep an orderly journal, writing on whatever blank page he first found.

Manuscripts on display at U. S. C. include those for "Mountains of California," bearing in his handwriting "written in June, 1878."

POW-WOWS LOSE "WOW"

CUSHING, Okla., (UP)—Civilization has taken the "wow" out of Indian pow-wows, says Edgar L. Fricker of Cushing. Fricker, recently returned from a Redskin "League of Nations" convention at Perkins, asserted that tribesmen are not going in much for war paint and tomahawks any more.

Tsk, Tsk, Sally

Faith Bacon, who says she originated the fan dance idea is pretty mad at Sally Rand, the little girl who popularized the idea at the Chicago World's Fair and way points. As a matter of fact, so mad is Faith because she says Sally stole her thunder, she filed suit in Los Angeles courts demanding that an injunction be issued to restrain Sally from using her fans and further asks $375,000 damages.

Marriage Vows Are Exchanged In Long Beach

Standing at an altar whose banks were white chrysanthemums were Miss Ruth Cain of Long Beach, daughter of Mrs. V. H. Lillard of that city, and Attorney Morris Cain of Santa Ana, exchanged wedding vows Saturday afternoon with Kenneth M. White, son of W. R. White and Mrs. Dovie White of Long Beach.

Long Beach First Methodist church was setting for the pastoral service conducted by the pastor, the Rev. George McDonald, D.D., at 4 o'clock. Two hundred or more guests were present, many of them from this city, girlhood home of the lovely young bride. Just preceding the chrisen hour was a musical program with Miss Ann Aaronson at the organ, and Miss Helen Hoff playing marimba numbers.

The candle-lighting was made a charming bit of the ceremony, by the bride's brother, Morris Cain Jr., and one of her close friends, Miss Joyce Horne, gifted young screen player.

Lace-clad Bride
Miss Cain, pacing to the altar on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, was a beautiful picture in her princess gown of cobwebby lace. It was fashioned with long train over her full-length net veil flowing from a coronet of seed pearls. Lilies of the valley were mingled with her foral bouquet of bride roses.

Miss Lesley Mayson, maid of honor, was gowned in delicate blue moire, its full skirt girdled with velvet ribbons in a rich fuchsia shade accented by the flowers of her bouquet. The bride's attendants included also, Miss Mitti Beckett and Mrs. Robert Sanders, a sister of the bridegroom. Their formal frocks were similar to that of the maid of honor in style, but were of old rose moire, with fuchsia velvet ribbons, and identical bouquets.

Mr. White's best man was Walter Gollett and his ushers were Harry Norton and Leslie McCurdy, the latter a cousin of the bride. Members of the family joined the bridal party for a reception in the church annex. The bride's mother, Mrs. Lillard, wore fuchsia velvet with little plumed hat to match. Mrs. White, mother of the bridegroom, wore a crepe gown in the new tone of Boy blue.

Mr. and Mrs. White left for an automobile trip north. After November 15 they will be at home to their friends at 4020 Vermont street, Long Beach. Mr. White will resume his duties with the Richfield Oil company. The romance of the young couple began in their Long Beach junior college days. Mr. White entered junior college after graduating from Wilson high school in the beach city. His bride was born in Santa Ana, and had her earlier grade school work in this city and Tustin, but graduated from Polytechnic high school, Long Beach, before entering junior college.

Thomas Glenn Provides Program for Section

Thomas Glenn of the Junior college faculty gave an interesting account of his summer travels in Europe at Ebell Modern Literature section's opening meeting of the season Friday afternoon.

Mrs. George Dunton received the group in her home, 1332 East Fourth street. On the hostess committee with her were Mesdames Ray Adkinson, Hiram Currey and Harry Huffman.

Mrs. Stanley Reinhaus, leader of the section and Mrs. Howard Ray poured tea, presiding at a table centered with red coxcomb and white mums.

Since the next regular meeting would fall on Armistice day, members will assemble instead a week later, Friday, November 18 in the clubhouse lounge, it was announced.

WINTER VISITORS

Mrs. E. R. Blome of Sidney, Neb., who has been visiting in this city with her mother, Mrs. Matilda Sturbaum, 311 Halesworth street, and with her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Perry Davis, 1418 West Ninth street, is in Glendale for a time.

Mrs. Blome and her children, Connie and Gordon, arrived in the Southland some time ago, and the young people are attending school in Glendale. Mr. Blome is expected to join his family at Thanksgiving time, and will remain with them for the remainder of the winter.

Miss Nora Mae Bingle Is Bride at Early Morning Rites

Miss Nora Mae Bingle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Bingle, 1111 Fremont street, and Frank Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Clark, 636 North Birch street, were bride and bridegroom at pretty rites Sunday morning at Santa Ana Wedding chapel.

The Rev. Earl C. Bloss read the 9:30 o'clock rites for which the bride wore a navy blue costume with blue accessories and a corsage bouquet of gardenias. Her sister, Miss Maxine Bingle, maid of honor, was similarly attired, and her bouquet, too, was of gardenias. Guests were received in the Bingle home after the quiet ceremony. There were dahlias and asters to carry out a yellow and white decorative motif throughout the rooms. The new Mrs. Clark cut an elaborately decorated wedding cake which was served with coffee and chocolate.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark left for a honeymoon trip to San Francisco and Yellowstone. On their return to Santa Ana, they will be located with the bridegroom's parents on Birch street. Mr. Clark will resume his duties with a market at Chestnut and Main streets. He had his schooling in this city, as did the bride, who was graduated from Santa Ana High school in 1937. She has been employed at Main Malt shop.

Guests were the bride's grandmother and great-grandmother, Mrs. Ethel McGuire and Mrs. Clemens Wintersburg; her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Nora Bingle and her grandfather, Lewis Bingle, with Mrs. Lewis Bingle; Messrs. and Mesdames W. M. Clark, John Bingle, C. E. Smith, Charles Clark, Cecil Clark; the Messrs. Ruth Clark, Ruth Dennis, Nadine Covington, Lona Boydston, Helen Haneagan, Emaline Bingle, Maxine Bingle and Mesdames Albert Dennis, G. W. Slater; Messrs. Paul Bingle, Harry Haneagan.

Many White Elephants Add Gayety to Beta Sigma Phi Supper

White elephants were stressed in decorative design and in entertainment last night for Sigma chapter members of Beta Sigma Phi when they launched a winter series of Sunday night suppers with a gay affair in the home of Mrs. Donald Ribeau, 573 Van Bibber avenue, Orange.

Mrs. Ribeau was joined by the Misses Eunice Spicer, Margaret Wilson, Lois Taylor and Catherine Walbridge in planning the merry event. They had provided a table of paper bags, each containing some amazing article of dress, which arriving guests chose and then were compelled to wear throughout the evening.

For their supper table, the hostesses grouped bright flowers in white elephant holders, and served the tempting menu by candlelight. Each guest had to find her place by a cleverly rhymed description instead of name card, and the work of Miss Spicer. The exchange of white elephant packages brought by the guests, added to the gayety of after-supper hours, especially in combination with the amusing hats, old-fashioned hair ornaments and artificial flowers which the earlier paper bag distribution had called forth.

The Misses Amber Lee and Rachel Jones, Santa Ana; Mary Daum and Janet Watson of Orange, were guests charming the evening with the hostess group with other Sigma chapter members. These were the Misses Lillian McDonald, Mary Ford, Katherine Chapman, Delphina Lopez, Lena May Wilkey and Jean Ema of this city; Mrs. Robert Callis, San Juan Capistrano; Mrs. Arthur Flint, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Robert Windolph, Orange.

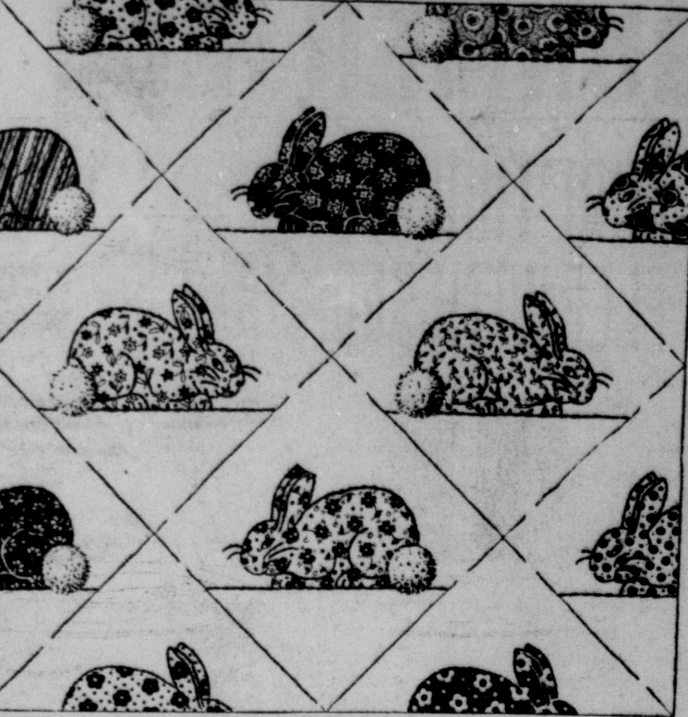

Cake-baking Contest Is Fair Feature

There is a clatter of pans and mixing bowls prevailing today in Santa Ana kitchens, as housewives who pride themselves on cake-making skill, prepare to enter lush cakes tomorrow in the open-to-all cake-baking contest of the anticipated Miniature Fair of Women's club of Santa Ana. The fair will be held in Veterans hall, 1418 West Ninth street, is in Glendale for a time.

Three well-known home economists of the community will act as judges in the contest, Miss Frances Liles of the county department of home economics, Mrs. Margaret Lackland and Mrs. Rosamond Church of Southern Counties Gas company. Prizes in the event are being presented by Stein's Stationery store. Door prizes to be awarded during the event were donated by Smart and Final and by the newly opened Saving Center.

The cake-baking contest is only one of scores of entertaining features which Women's club is planning. Various merchants have taken display booths, and other booths will be in charge of club groups. Music and fortune telling will prevail throughout afternoon and evening hours, and at mid-day, patrons will find a luscious Spanish menu, served by La Hacienda.

Ebell Group Congratulated Upon Party's Fine Success

Convinced that no previous style revue and tea presented by Ebells had offered more attractive modes nor a friendlier hospitality, scores of women left Ebells clubhouse late Saturday afternoon, loud in their praises of plans made by the party hostesses, Mrs. Hugh Shields and her finance committee, and Mrs. T. R. Trawick and her Day Nursery committee.

This combined hostess group had spared no pains in planning an affair of such charm as is seldom achieved at large parties. Bridge play was enjoyable, unusually lovely frocks were displayed through the courtesy of Rankin's Drygoods store combined with graciousness of club members and friends as models and the clubhouse were its most festive air.

Flower Effect
Clusters of autumn blossoms lent additional beauty to new draperies and furnishings. There were bowls of zinnias mingled with ornamental grasses, great sprays of goldenrod, or perhaps clusters of berries in amethyst tones, all arranged by the artistic hands of Mrs. J. T. Wilson. The lace or embroidery spread tea tables were quite as lovely, and were garlanded by Mrs. Lillian Warhurst of Mission Flower shop.

In the peacock room, she used Transval daisies and other blossoms to harmonize. There tea was poured by Mrs. S. W. Nau, Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank and Mrs. J. P. Hatzfeld. In the dinette where Mrs. George Osterman and Mrs. H. T. Dunning presided, the table held a shallow yellow shell with matching bird, surrounded by violets and gardenias. Home-made cakes were served with the tea. Of course this was at the close of an afternoon of varied entertainment. Bridge was played during the first interval, and table prizes of hand-blocked towels were distributed by the hostesses from ornamental baskets, being so highly scored at each table, being so highly scored at each table, being so highly scored at each table. Lucky prize of a set of the towels, went to Mrs. Roy Hall, whose name was drawn by Mrs. Steinberger from a basket held by Mrs. Trawick.

The revue of costumes was of paramount interest, and models were introduced by Mrs. L. A. Beeman, who gave brief descriptions of the models to a musical setting provided by Mrs. Calvin Flint, violin, and Mrs. Harold Rhoades, piano. Mrs. Howard Timmons was in charge of the feature. The very lovely styles ranged from smart street frocks, rough tailored modes to gowns for formal afternoon and evening wear. Nor were Milady's leisure hours forgotten, for some of the lounging pajamas and tricky housecoats received applause equalling the more formal modes.

Friendly Aides
The stunning "mannequins" included Miss Madeline Paxton, Mrs. A. G. Flagg, Miss Gwen Griffin, Mrs. Lois Smith, Miss Betty Timmons and Mrs. Margaret Franklin. Wheeling slowly on the stage, and then passing down the aisles on carpet specially laid for the occasion by the Ludlum company, they were poised and graceful. The majority of committee hostesses found it possible to be present to extend friendly hospitality. Those who were out of the city and unable to attend, had worked faithfully on advance plans.

Mrs. Trawick's co-workers were Mesdames W. W. Hoy, Hiram M. Curry, E. E. Pimental, Harold Harrison, Robert Steinberger, E. J. Hanna, Robert Wade and R. A. Tiernan. On Mrs. Shields' committee were Miss Mabel McFadden, Mesdames Hazel Maag, L. W. Budget, Chester Warren, S. B. Kaufman, Walter Hickey, B. J. MacMullen and Eugene Robinson.

Evening Bridge Party Is Compliment to Student Nurse

Receiving a group of guests late the past week in their pleasant country home in the Greenville district, Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Callens planned the evening in compliment to their niece, Miss Anita Callens. Miss Callens, who is the daughter of Mrs. Alice Callens of Anaheim, is leaving soon to enter upon her nurse's training course at Queen of the Angels hospital, Los Angeles.

An evening of bridge was enjoyed by the guests, and high scores made by Miss Angela Callens and Mrs. Alice Callens, won pretty prizes. Galloping prize fell to the lot of Mrs. Joseph Callens, who held high honors at the close of the session. At the same time the hostess presented a pretty guest prize to her honoree.

To conclude the evening, refreshments were served the group including Mr. and Mrs. Callens, the hosts, and Miss Anita Callens, the Rev. John Quattannos, Mr. and Mrs. Adiel Vanderbecke, Mrs. Alice Callens and her son, Gerard, and other daughters, the Misses Agnes, Angela and Andrea Callens, all of Anaheim, with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Callens of this city, and George Callens, son of the home.

North County Rites Are Of Much Interest

Late yesterday afternoon in Fullerton First Baptist church occurred a wedding of wide county interest when Miss Gertrude B. Heffner, daughter of the Louis J. Heffners, prominent north county residents, became the bride of George Dee Brumley, son of the George A. Brumleys, well known Fullerton residents.

Vivid dahlias gleamed amidst the palms banked at the altar where the Rev. Francis E. Hawes conducted the beautiful rites at 4 o'clock. Miss Elizabeth Hunziker was at the organ for formal bridal music, and as accompanist to the soloist, Sam Hunziker, whose songs were "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

Miss Heffner, approaching the altar on the arm of her father and by him in marriage, was radiant in white satin fashioned with cleverly buttoned little bolero. Her sheer veil cascaded in fingertip length from a chaplet of orange blossoms, and she carried gardenias. Mrs. Edward W. Gaebe of this city as matron of honor, was charmingly gowned in peacock blue taffeta with which she carried rose dahlias mingled with white pompon chrysanthemums. She wore gardenias in her hair as did the two bridesmaids, the Misses Marie West and Dorothy Borchert. They were frocks of rose moirs taffeta, identical in mode, and carried similar clusters of pale yellow dahlias and white chrysanthemums.

Mr. Brumley was attended by Hilton L. Daleesi as best man, and by Edward Gaebe and Ray Burney as ushers.

Following the rites, the new Mr. and Mrs. Brumley and their attendants lingered in the church foyer to receive felicitations of their friends. They were joined by their parents for this interval. Mrs. Heffner was gowned in black satin with accent of white, while the senior Mrs. Brumley wore printed silk in deep blue.

They will return to make their home in Fullerton where Mr. Brumley is with the Patten-Blinn Lumber company. He is a graduate of Fullerton High school and is active in Twenty-Third club of that city. His bride graduated from Fullerton Junior college after completing high school in Anaheim.

Mixing Bowl

BY ANN MEREDITH

After all is said and done, walking is still one of the best forms of exercise for removing excess poundage.

How do you walk? Do you day dream and saunter along at a mile-per-hour pace? If that's what you call walking for exercise you might just as well save shoe leather and take your exercise in an arm chair, reading a mystery story.

Walk at the rate of five miles per hour if you want to lose weight. That doesn't mean that you actually walk five miles...two miles will do the trick if you walk fast and breathe clear down to your toes, for it is the amount of oxygen you consume that determines loss of weight quite as much as the brisk exercise. So-o-o, chin up, shoulders back, tummy tucked in, a steady even pace, deep breathing and a definite objective to be reached in a certain number of minutes...that's walking for exercise.

A reducing diet, no matter how good, can't possibly do all that you want it to do. As weight is lost, flabby muscles must be toned and tightened up by exercise unless you want to look like a doll leaking sawdust.

You supply the exercise and we'll supply the diet and guarantee its success. Write to me, today, for our Safe and Sane reducing diet; please enclose a stamped, return addressed envelope.

Girl Found Murdered Behind Theater

Police of Larchmont, N. Y., are working on the mysterious murder of 17-year-old Mary Coyle, of nearby New Rochelle, N. Y., whose body, with the head battered in, was found behind a Larchmont motion picture theater. Unable at first to identify the victim, police are shown device in the war on speeders exhibited at the National Safety Council in the photo above, taking fingerprints.

Camera Catches Speeders In the Act

No matter how hard he argues, the driver of the truck in the above picture won't convince a judge he wasn't traveling 60 miles an hour on a 30-mile speed limit highway. A camera on the windshield of the car following the truck photographed simultaneously the truck, a speedometer (registering 60 miles an hour) attached to the left front fender of the trailing auto, and the 30-mile speed limit sign. It's a new device in the war on speeders exhibited at the National Safety Council Congress in Chicago.

Pension Clamor Heard Clear Across Nation

Five faces looking squarely into the problem of old-age pensions . . . again a vital factor in the fall elections. Governor-elect O'Daniel of Texas must find ways to pay the liberal pensions which were his campaign promise. Pepper and Downey go to the voters on pension plans. Dr. Townsend, original pensioner, sees his schemes rise to new life. But Representative Doughton is faced with the practical problem of translating pension plans into federal law.

Flowers for Der Fuehrer—Before Bouquet Ban

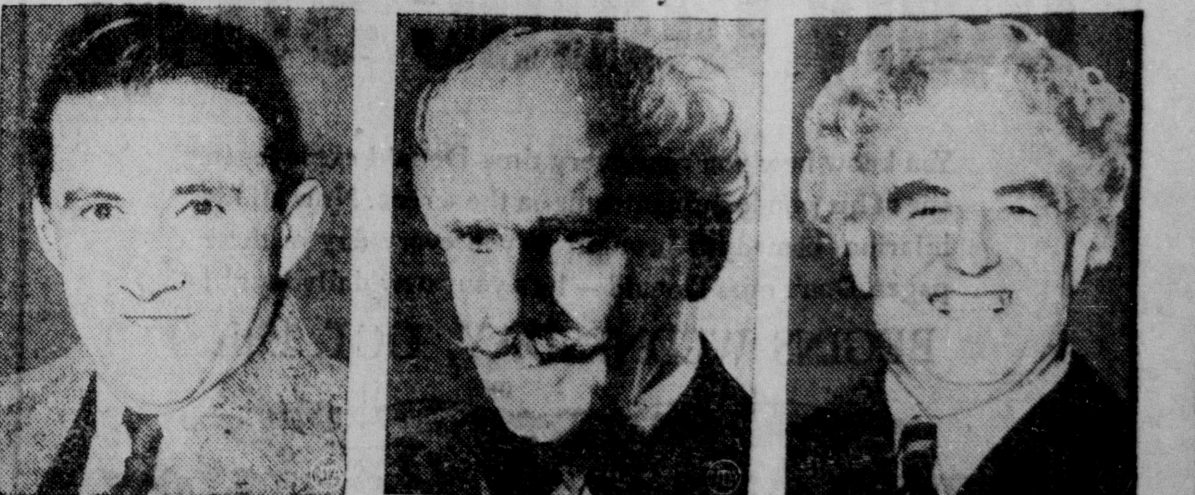

Fuehrer Adolf Hitler mingled freely with his brand-new Sudeten subjects who milled about him at Graslitz to present their new ruler with bouquets. The rain-soaked chancellor seems pleased enough in this picture, but a few days later he was so angered when a tossed bouquet struck him in the face that he issued a "no more posies" decree.

Swastikas Bloom Suddenly In Sudetenland

Houses in Sudetenland towns taken over by Germany very quickly flowered with Swastika flags and garlands of evergreen as Nazi occupation troops approached. The photo above is typical of the decorated streets that greeted incoming German soldiers, with the buildings gay with hitherto forbidden Nazi emblems brought out of hiding before the withdrawing Czech forces were scarcely out of sight.

Music In the Air as They Arrive In U. S.

Gentle October zephyrs carried faint strains of fine music as the canini, noted conductor, whose arriving in New York for the win. S. S. Normandie docked in New York with some of the most famous personalities in the musical world. Among them was John Barbirolli, famed conductor of the New York Philharmonic Symphony, in opposition to Italian racial theories. Maestro Toscanini had nothing to say on his arrival. Still another top-ranking artist in the United States, American music lovers will hear what the folks back home in Europe will miss.

Nazis Greeted With Bouquets—And Brickbats

German troops occupying the Sudetenland areas ceded to Chancellor Hitler under the Munich agreement were warmly received in some former Czech towns. In Asch, for instance, home town of Sudeten Nazi Fuehrer Konrad Henlein, charming maedchens, as pictured at left above, greeted German motorcycle troops with floral bouquets. But the photo at right indicates that all was not sweetness and light. At another town, German soldiers are shown clearing a street filled with brickbats and debris from houses wrecked by enraged Czechs as they fled before the invaders.

Frau Henlein Waits for Husband's Boss

Taking her place with thousands of other Sudeten women along the route of Hitler's triumphal parade through what used to be part of Czechoslovakia, Frau Henlein, left foreground above, wife of Konrad Henlein, Nazi commissioner for Sudetenland, waited with posies for Der Fuehrer. Frau Henlein is shown with her three children and a bevy of Sudeten women dressed in native costume.

Lewis Lambasts... Battle Still Rages... Green Growls

They're at it again, those two stout enemies, John L. Lewis and William Green. Flinging back a challenge from the American Federation of Labor asking his resignation as C. I. O. chief as first move toward labor peace, Lewis declared he would resign if Green would do likewise. The A. F. of L. had adopted a resolution in convention at Houston, Tex., asking Lewis' retirement.

But skeptical was William Green. Lashing out with ridicule at Lewis' suggestion both labor leaders resign, he termed the offer "an attempted fraud on the public." Green chose to leave his fate to the federation, which was considered certain to re-elect him as president at the Houston convention. Green charged Lewis would remain as "dictator" of C. I. O.

Escapes Killers

Great Britain's District Governor of Jerusalem, Edward Keith-Roach, above, narrowly escaped death or serious injury when four bombs hurled at his car by assassins failed of their purpose. Neither he nor the occupants of three official cars which accompanied him were hurt. The attack, which occurred in front of the Rockefeller Museum in Jerusalem, was one of the boldest in a series of anti-British outrages.

Guides Purge

Diminutive, 125-pound Frank R. McNinch, chief of the Federal Communications Commission, is pictured as he started a purge of his agency with the firing of Hampson Gary, general counsel. McNinch, a North Carolina church elder sent to the FCC last year to "clean-up," replaced Gary with 35-year-old William J. Dempsey of New Mexico.

Claims Victory

Famed Gen. Chang Fa Kwei, above, China's "Ironside" commander, claims the greatest victory of the Sino-Japanese war, asserting he virtually wiped out the Japanese 101st Tokyo division in a devastating series of counter-attacks on the Nanchang front south-east of Hankow. General Chang placed the number of Japanese killed at 20,000.

Big Ernie Smith Scores Twice In Pro Triumph

HOLLYWOOD — (UP)—Ernie Smith, former All-American tackle, scored the first touchdown of his career as the Hollywood Stars beat the Fresno Rough Riders 28-7 yesterday in the opener of the California Pro League.

Smith played football in high school, was an All-American at U. S. C., and starred with the Green Bay Packers. But never did he carry the ball over the goal line before yesterday. Then he did it twice.

Ernie took a pass from "Chuck" Chesbire on the Fresno 22-yard line to score in the second quarter and picked up a fumble on the 2-yard line in the next quarter to score again. Jim Purvis, former Purdue All-American, and Bill Burch from Centenary scored the other Stars' touchdowns.

The lone Fresno tally, came when Jimmy Coffey, formerly of Stanford, took the kickoff opening the second half on his 2-yard line, ran to mid-field and lateraled to John Pucheu, formerly of S. F. U., who scored.

event of an outstanding success.

For years fan magazines have been discussing, pro and con, M-G-M's policy of teaming Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy. Fans have taken up the argument and so, I understand, have Jeanette and Nelson, who both have felt, now and then, that a separation might do them good. All of which adds spice to a sequence in their soon-to-be-released opus, "Sweethearts." In that, they quarrel, split and take new singing partners—Jeanette teaming with Douglas McPhail and Nelson with Betty Jones. The combinations, according to the scenario, prove disastrous—and I'm wondering if it isn't just a clever reminder by Metro's powers-that-be, that the studio knows best.

Kay Francis played her last scene on the Warner Brothers lot with David Newell, the same actor who appeared with her, seven years ago, in her first scene there. Then he was her leading man in "Man Wanted," today he is an extra.

Had lunch with Charles Judels, Hollywood's premiere dialect comedian—and heard a story so screwy that it could have happened only in Hollywood. Years ago, Judels, then fresh from the stage, was assigned a screen role as a comic Frenchman and the studio hired a dialect instructor to give him a daily lesson. When he appeared at Judels' home, Charley asked whether he was hired by the day or the week and being assured that the instructor was on the regular studio payroll, said: "I don't need these lessons. You come to my house every day, read the papers and have a good time, but let me alone." Eight weeks later, with the picture finished and Charlie Judels acclaimed as the greatest dialect comedian in Hollywood history, his erstwhile "instructor" came around to thank him. "You know," he said, "I'm awfully glad things worked out so well. I'm a German—and I don't speak much French!"

Grover Jones, the scenarist, treated my illusions about Hollywood's divorce habit a bit roughly today. He has been a bit roughly married for seventeen years. Recently he made a man to man check of all the people working on one of his sets and found that exactly forty-two of them had been married to the same mate longer than he had. ## FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(UP)—Profits-taking reduced prices of pivotal shares fractions to 2 points today after the stock market had witnessed one of the most active sessions of the year.

Utility and aviation shares came out in blocks of 3,000 to 30,000 shares at the opening and most of them mounted to new highs. Coppers joined the initial upturn and the remainder of the list was steady.

Traders then took advantage of the rise in utilities and aviation shares to take profits elsewhere. Automobile issues, stocks and some building issues were first to turn down.

Some aviation issues retained gains to the close, but most utilities receded. Coppers gave ground after making new highs, and near the close a majority registered losses.

CIVIL SERVICE DEFECTS

As we read the reports of the middle of the Civil Service in Los Angeles, where all the five Civil Service Commissions were dismissed, we begin to realize that Civil Service has its very serious defects.

As one reads the reports of Mayor Bowron, one is inclined to believe that a lot of the vice and corruption that existed in Los Angeles was due to the Civil Service Commissions.

And when Civil Service becomes corrupt, it is infinitely more difficult to correct the corruption that has become established than where there is no Civil Service. It might be well for people to consider this before they more completely tie the hands of the Santa Ana voters by any more Civil Service legislation. In Los Angeles, they had to have a recall of the Mayor in order to get rid of the Civil Service Commissioners, with the hope of starting to clean things up.

SOUTH AMERICAN BACKING

One aspect of President Roosevelt's appeal for European peace passed almost unnoticed in the stress and strain of the moment. Yet it may well prove more important to the United States than any other. It is this: Practically every Latin-American country lined up solidly back of Roosevelt, sending similar appeals that immediately followed his. Only a few hours after news of Roosevelt's appeal reached Buenos Aires, President Ortiz cabled a similar appeal to Hitler and Benes. Within 24 hours, practically all South American countries had followed suit.

This was, as far as can be learned, spontaneous. But, following it, talk is being revived in all South American countries about the desirability of closer union of the Americas to protect the governments of the western world in case of a European war.

The trend of world events, as well as the conscious policy of the administration, are turning the western world to an increasing realization that Europe's problems are not our problems, and that the natural link between the great continents which broke away from the European system a hundred years ago is worth fostering.

MORE FEDERAL INTERFERENCE IN STATE ELECTIONS

The attempt by the Federal Government to influence state legislation is constantly growing. United States Senator Henry Shipstead of Minnesota, is responsible for getting into the Congressional Record a long list of propaganda of Jackson H. Ralston for the repeal of the sales tax and the enactment of the single tax in California.

The privilege of franking an envelope certainly was never intended to be used for the Federal Government to influence state legislation such as the Senator is doing in sending out his propaganda. Senator Shipstead is violating every principle of honesty and justice when he stoops to using his position for that purpose.

The backers of the single tax show their unfairness and their lack of sportsmanship to coerce those people who do not believe in their principles to pay by taxation for propaganda sent through the mails free.

The hand bill on which the propaganda called "Congressional Record" is printed has on the top of it, "not printed at government expense;" at the end of the bill, it also has "U. S. Government Printing Office, 1938."

It seems to be a contradictory statement to claim the bill is not printed at government expense and, yet, have it printed by the government printing office. Either it is printed at government expense or the U. S. Government Printing Office is doing commercial printing used to influence state legislation, and is competing with private printing offices by charging for the printing.

In either case, it is unethical, un-American and undemocratic. Instead of this helping the single tax amendment, the very unfairness of it should act as a boomerang and cause it to lose votes. It is just an example of the unethical unfairness of the people who are back of it who use any tactics to shelter themselves from a fair discussion of the matter. They prefer to use tactics that somebody else pays for and the public does not have an opportunity to answer.

THE "MONOPOLY" PROBE

Senator O'Mahoney's address before the New York Board of Trade on the problems confronting the Temporary National Economic Committee was admirable in spirit and in many of its specific comments. Though the Senator was aware of a "profound suspicion" among some business men of "what they call politicians and demagogues," he did not denounce this suspicion but said that he could forgive a great deal of it "in any man who believes in human liberty." If we must have a planned economy he asserted, it must be planned by public authority, "but perhaps it is not necessary to have it at all."

He was ready to acknowledge that "the concentration of economic power and wealth in government can be just as bad, if not worse than if concentrated in a large corporation."

Yet the Senator seems greatly to overestimate the present actual concentration of economic power in private hands. Consider his example of the thirty corporations in this country each with assets in excess of one billion dollars, and with combined assets of more than fifty billions. The economic power of the twelve banks and life insurance corporations in this group, he thinks, is "incalculable." Further, these "giant corporations are subject to authoritarian control by the corporate managers."

There are two main questions here. One concerns ownership, the other management. As to the first, we know that these thirty giant corporations do not imply any corresponding concentration of wealth. The ownership of these corporations is divided among hundreds of thousands of security holders. The management problem may be divided into three main questions: How do the managers get their power? How much power do they have? How do they exercise it?

It is true, as Senator O'Mahoney implies, that though stockholders have theoretically the power to vote for management, practically the power of the individual stockholder is usually so infinitesimal as to be almost non-existent. But is not this same gap between theory and practice just as evident in the political world, where the voter's choice is often confined to one of two machine politicians, in nei-

FORMER TOTALITARIAN STATES

As the public is coming to believe that the government should have more and more control over the lives of each individual in order to promote the general welfare, a quotation from Pitirim Alexandrovitch Sorokin, professor of Sociology at Harvard university in his great book, "Fluctuation of Social Relationships. War and Revolutions," should be interesting to those who do not have time to study the experiences of nations that have adopted totalitarian states in the past.

Professor Sorokin was born in Russia in 1889. He was condemned to die and finally banished by the Communist government in 1922. He came to the United States in 1923 and became a citizen in 1930. So, his actual experience with revolutions and his position as a professor of sociology at Harvard university should cause his statements to be taken seriously.

We quote the following: "That some of the state systems have been nearer to the totalitarian type than others, and that the totalitarian type is not a novelty of modern times, but has occurred many times in the past, is beyond doubt. Totalitarian were the state systems of ancient Egypt, especially in some periods like the Ptolemaic Egypt; the state system of ancient Peru, under the Incas; that of ancient Mexico; of ancient China especially in periods like that under the leadership of Wang-an-Shi in the 11th century; that of Japan under the Tokugawa shogunate; the state network of relationships of ancient Sparta, Lipara and some other Green states; of ancient Rome, especially after Diocletian; in Bohemia of the 15th century; several state systems of Ancient India; that of ancient Persia . . . These and several other state systems were as 'totalitarian' as the contemporary Communist, Fascist, Hitlerite state systems. Likewise among some of the primitive tribes their static system is also 'totalitarian,' while in some tribes it is nearer to the laissez-faire type.

"In the above totalitarian state systems the government control and regimentation was exceedingly large; it embraced the greater part of the lives of the subjects. The government managed almost the whole economic life; production, distribution, consumption; it controlled the family and the marriage relationships; the religious, educational, recreational, military and other activities and relationships. The situation was factually not very different in all the essentials (except the phraseology) from that in the contemporary totalitarian state systems of Soviet Russia, Fascist Italy, or Nazi Germany. All the patterns in all the essential fields of behavior and relationship were prescribed for the citizens or the subjects. What kind of occupation an individual may enter; what, where, and when to work; where to live; what to eat, to think and to say; what to approve or disapprove; what to learn; whether to marry or not, and if to marry, whom, where, and at what age; how many children to have; which of these children to allow to live and which to expose to death. Briefly, the network of the state system was so closely woven that an individual could hardly take any step without touching it and bringing it into action. From an external standpoint his liberty was almost non-existent, he was a kind of puppet pulled by the government; and the government was a kind of central 'power station' from which came all the 'motor power' that moved the subjects. Viewed in this light, these systems were the realization of the ideal of contemporary socialists, communists, and other 'totalitarians' of our times. For this reason any claim that the contemporary totalitarianism is something quite new in human history is utterly wrong; if anything, the past was more totalitarian than the western state systems of the 19th century."

FUNCTION OF GOVERNMENT

The function of liberal government in the past has been that of putting a limited power on the government. The function of true liberalism at the present is putting a limit on the powers of the government through the majority.

It is this encroaching on private initiative by the majority over the minority that is binding us in hoops of iron and making it impossible for talent to be used. It is standing in the way of progress. It is the primary cause of the United States being in the worst depression in all its history.

Yet, the reformers, theorists and meddlers are contending that all we need is more and more government regulation of the minority.

er of whom he has much confidence?

The power that corporation managers wield has in late years been enormously exaggerated by most reformers. Among the thirty giant corporations referred to by Senator O'Mahoney are a substantial number of railroads and public utilities. How much "authoritarian control" have the managers of these companies? The railroad president cannot fix either the freight or passenger rates that his road will charge. That is done by the Government through the I. C. C. The railroad president has to consult that body and the SEC also when he contemplates new financing, or practically any move of major importance. Changes in wage rates on his road depend on the consent of unions and on the process of negotiation laid down in the law. Utility officials are similarly restricted. The great banks are subject at all times to the control of the Government examiners and of the Federal Reserve Board. The insurance companies can invest their funds only in securities that the State chooses to make eligible for them. Finally, in those decisions that are not already circumscribed by Government control, corporation executives must today court public good-will hardly less consistently than politicians do. The "authoritarian control" and "irresponsible power" of private managers are largely mythical.

All this does not mean that we should not continue to aim at decentralizing economic power to the largest extent consistent with maximum productivity. This is a many-sided problem. How complicated it is is revealed by a remark of Senator O'Mahoney himself. In the public mind the chief task of the Temporary National Economic Committee is to find how best to curb monopoly. But the Senator now states that the committee's object is to "find a formula which, in the basic industries at least, will eliminate the evils of destructive competition." It would be odd indeed if an inquiry which began by attacking the evils of monopoly should end by attacking the evils of competition.

What Lovely Weather We're Having!

General Hugh S. JOHNSON SAYS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Senator Joe O'Mahoney is one of the most courageous, able, sincere of senators. He was assistant to Jim Farley as architect of the nomination and victory of 1932. Not to share Jim's personal credit in the least, Joe was as great a chief of staff to a great political general as any in the history of wars.

Yet, he battled in the front rank against the President's court-packing plan. He was deaf to Mr. Farley's superlative blarney and blandishments to be "a good soldier" on the court bill, whether he believed in it or not. It hurt his loyal Irish heart and it silvered his hair—but it saved his conscience to say in effect: "It isn't a senator's business to be a good soldier—their not to question why. It is a senator's first business to question why. I question why. I can't see the answer. I shall oppose the court bill."

So he led the brave, successful fight. It was his pen which wrote the senate death sentence on that bill. By many it is thought to be one of the greatest of American state papers.

All this is by way of winding up to give my friend, Joe, a kick in the pants. For admiring him so much and liking him so well, but you Walter, let's always be friends, but it isn't. It's just the old Irish formula of a "kick with a kick."

Senator O'Mahoney went down to New York the other day to assure business how fair his Joint congressional and executive "Monopoly Committee's" investigation of American business is going to be. If any business man got any assurance out of his address, he is as much of an optimist as the guy who carried a corkscrew in his pocket all through prohibition.

Most of it was devoted to an argument which has long been in this writer's own, that some of our great corporations have become wealthier and effect the daily living of more people more directly than many political governments. Yet they are controlled by private management and the public has no voice. Therefore, some federal regulation is inevitable.

WHO PAYS AND WHO IS BENEFITED?

Fellow Citizens:

There are two statements repeatedly being made by advocates of the $30-every-Thursday pension plan which should be refuted. They are: "it (the plan) takes nothing from anyone and gives something to everyone," and "it involves no tax or cost to tax payers, now or later." By such glamorous phrases is the imagination captured. A little analysis will show how untrue and delusive these statements are.

The proposed warrants will be in substance a promissory note for one dollar, payable to the bearer in one year, out of a fund that has no existence at the time of issuance—a weekly installment note with the unusual feature that the installments are payable by the holder, not by the maker of the note or warrant. The State merely offers to receive the installments and deliver them as a trustee to the final holder at maturity; the warrant is entirely devoid of any other legal obligation. Even the attaching of the weekly installment stamp is voluntary and cannot be enforced. The only credit, therefore, supporting the warrant is the public goodwill and the prospect that at the end of the year a fund will have been created by the successive holders sufficient for its redemption.

The only beneficiary—the only person to get something for nothing under the plan—is the one who qualifies and becomes a recipient of the $30-every-Thursday pension. The consideration he receives from his first transfer completes the gift as to him. Each succeeding holder reimburses his predecessor and in addition in theory, makes a contribution to the fund which is to reimburse the final holder—a contribution which is at the same time a self-imposed tax for the benefit of the first holder. The warrant carries this continuing liability for contribution to every transferee.

In practice, however, every holder does not contribute; because, irrespective of the number of times the warrant is transferred in the same week, only one of the transferees pays the tax, namely, the one who is "caught with the goods" on the fateful Thursday of that week. The number of contributors to the full fund is therefore restricted to a possible minimum of one.

Leon Henderson—and the senator's own bill.

There are abuses in our corporate structure. They should be corrected by national regulation, but not by national management of prices or any part of business. They are not responsible for the unemployment and had business. The purpose to set them up as such a scapegoat sticks out as every line of Mr. O'Mahoney's speech. It is rabble-rousing political hokum.

There is a real culprit. Both bad business and unemployment can be as directly traced to the policies of this administration as failing water can be traced to its source. But will the senator's witch-finding committee investigate them? On their lives, they will not. They have another prisoner to fry and he is already before even the first "oyez" of the court crier.

Our schools are FULL OF JITTERBUGS with cock sure teachers teaching them. Schooling in England, Germany and the Scandinavian countries is a solemn duty and rigidly carried out, that is why the English and Canadians are held by over Mr. Tax Payer. While our College boys are running filling stations and chain grocery stores.

There are plenty of empty upstairs business buildings in Santa Ana to carry on classes, if education is what they are looking for, instead of building more buildings for political crack-pots to meet and further connive tax payers of their last penny.

News Behind The News

By PAUL MALLON

World Copyright 1935 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON Oct. 17.—First, Production was held back for time Bernard Baruch ever uttered a word upon leaving the White House, was when he came out in the lobby and announced the army is not first class.

This was sensational in itself, but what made it more colossal was that Baruch had not even seen the president that day. He dined at the White House the night before, then went away, came back to the office next morning, saw White House publicist Steve Early, then managed to let news-men bump into him and wring the confession from his reluctant lips. Any doubts about what had happened inside were dispelled when Baruch's lamentation was confirmed by the president at a press conference a few hours later.

Newsmen near at hand recognized it as a Gallagher and Sheehan act between positively Mr. President and absolutely Mr. Baruch. Purpose, they say, was to impress congress with necessity of increasing the war department budget next year. Crisis-commenting congressmen have been promising the navy everything, the war department nothing.

Two army faults are sincerely worrying the top men. One was hinted by the president. He complained about insufficiency of plans for mass production of our latest scientific war implements. Wars will henceforth be fought with equipment rather than soldiers. Instruments will be more important than masses of men. His advisers found that out when they got down to practical steps in the last crisis. They learned that what Britain and France needed (as well as the U. S.) were the instruments—our secret bombing sights, our swifter plane patents, our machine guns, our anti-aircraft weapons. All needed these in quantities and right away. The war might have been over before the French troops could have been trained and dispatched overseas. Certainly London and Paris could have been destroyed.

You may confidently expect the next budget will carry a tremendous increase in the $2,000,000 yearly appropriation with which assistant war secretary, Louis Johnson, has been playing around, in an endeavor to get factories lined up by sample orders to fill war requirements swiftly.

Second worry (not mentioned) was the deficiency in anti-aircraft guns. Congress has been going on the assumption that our bombers are relatively safe from air attack, and so they are. No bomber yet devised could cross the seas with a full load of bombs and return, although a suicide attack without a return is possible. So is a closer-based or battleship-launched plane attack.

New York and San Francisco authorities have been complaining they are practically defenseless—and this is true too.

Army now is constructing a little more than 200 new anti-aircraft guns secretly in government arsenals, but this is obviously not enough for the entire coastline.

What has not been rumored is the fact that we are 6 months ahead of the program on submarines. While labor trouble in three private shipyards caused some concern for a time, no appreciable effect on program completion was noticeable.

Some planes between here and Houston have been flying low recently, due no doubt to the unadvised presence thereon, of Mr. Roosevelt's portly former labor arranger, Ed McGrady. Mr. McGrady is now a radio corporation vice president, but he thought he had to go down to see some of his old AFL friends at their Houston convention. He also thought he had to stop at the side door of the White House on the way down and back—or rather Mr. R. though so.

You will recall McGrady told the president when he resigned the assistant secretaryship of labor that he would be available on call. First call came two months ago when McGrady started to work for the president on CIO-AFL peace. He and a government official have been cooperating quietly since. McGrady has held several informal conferences with both CIO and AFL officials and has been in constant communication with the presidential office.

While the president is keeping mum, further peace developments are expected but not guaranteed.

YOU AND YOUR Nation's Affairs

By WALTER E. SPAHR

Professor of Economics, New York University

Senator Key Pittman of Nevada has recently proposed that the government barter the cotton carry-over of some 13,400,000 bales for foreign exchange. The cotton carry-over can be purchased at approximately 42 cents per ounce, and a gain of 12 cents per ounce can be realized if the silver certificates can be issued at the rate of $1.29 per ounce—this is the nominal value of silver.

For the silver in a dollar to be worth its face value, a fine ounce of silver must sell at $1.29 in the market. When silver sells at 42 cents, the silver in a dollar is worth 42/129 or 32 cents. Thus each silver dollar or silver certificate has a face value of nearly 68 cents in excess of the value of the silver bullion. In other words, our silver dollars and silver certificates are 2/3 inflation and one-third silver security.

An exception to this statement exists: some of our silver certificates have been issued only up to the cost of the silver purchased. We have both types in circulation—those issued at the rate of $1.29 per ounce of silver, and those issued at the cost of the silver. And where cost is used, we have two kinds to deal with: cost of foreign silver—let us say 42 cents per fine ounce—and cost of domestic silver, at present fixed by the Secretary of the Treasury at 64 cents, and which includes a subsidy for domestic silver producers.

Although the complexities of the present method of issuing our silver currency make an accurate computation of the present inflation in this currency far from simple, the Pittman proposal is quite simple and easily understood. For example, if the government purchases 1000 ounces of silver at 42 cents per ounce, and issues silver dollars or silver certificates at their nominal value of $1.29 per ounce, a total of $1290 would be issued against silver worth $420. The inflation would be $870 for cost of 1000 ounces of silver purchased.

Senator Pittman proposes, according to newspaper reports, to have the government trade ten pounds of cotton for one ounce of silver.
